An Earnest Protest Against Political Trading.

Irish Dissatisfaction with the Democratic Nominations in Missouri.

Greeley's Silence in Regard to His Democratic Intrigues.

Influential California Democrats who Oppose Greeley.

The Straight-Out Electoral Ticket in Connecticut.

No Trading.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser earnestly protests against any trading of votes in this State. It believes that the Greeleyites, having abandoned hope of securing the Presidency, are preparing to save something, if possible, from the wreck, and are trying to get pledges for exchanging of votes. It says: "They will trade off Mr. Greeley at any time for Mr. Kernan; and if they cannot do better, they will promise to vote for Grant if the Republicans will vote for Democratic members of Congress. This dickering is an old Democratic trick, and our Republican friends should be on their guard. Many votes could be obtained in exchange for one, in trading one candidate for another. For instance: A Democrat goes to a Republican friend and proposes to vote the Republican national ticket if his friend will vote for the Democratic candidate for Governor. This would look like a fair offer, and a great many persons, out of friendship, might make the trade. Then he would go to another friend and make the same agreement, and then to another, until he might get twenty or thirty votes for Mr. Kernan in exchange for his one individual vote for Grant. Trading, at the best, is a very dangerous experiment, for one or the other party is quite apt be cheated. If it is ever wise to resort to exchanging votes, there can be no possible excuse for it this Fall, when the political skies look so bright for the Republican cause. We say to our friends, therefore, meet every proposition to trade with a positive No!"

County Nominations.

The Republican District Convention, held at Whitehall a few days ago, nominated on the second ballot Eleazer Jones, of Middle Granville, their candidate for member of Assembly. Mr. Jones is the founder and manager of the well-known Penrhyn Slate Company, whose head-quarters is at Union-square. The nomination gives entire satisfaction to the party in Washington County, the Candidate is a man of the people, free from all political taint, reliable, energetic and very popular. Two years ago the Democrats nominated him for the same office, which honor he respectfully declined. Edward C. Whitemore, Esq., of Hartford, was nominated on the twenty-second ballot for School Commissioner, a gentleman well qualified to fill the position, and he will perform the duties of the office faithfully with honor.

Irish Dissatisfaction in Missouri.

At a late meeting of Irish citizens of St. Louis resolutions were adopted to issue an address to their countrymen in Missouri in condemnation of the treachery of the Democratic Party to them. A telegram to the Cincinnati Gazette says that the dissatisfaction among the Irish in St. Louis seems to be growing, notwithstanding the efforts of the Democrats to mollify them by assurances that they shall be well provided with places on the county ticket. At a meeting in South St. Louis, mainly composed of Irish laborers and workmen in iron-works there, Hon. John O'Neil, a Democrat of twenty-five years' standing, announced his severance with that party in most emphatic terms, and his speech was loudly applauded, especially when he said: "I am not here for the purpose of making a regular set speech or political argument, but merely for the purpose of making this announcement to a large and respectable audience of my fellow-countrymen, that now and henceforth I attach myself and cast my fortunes with the great National Union Republican Party of America. I am here to declare to you that I am no longer a member of the so-called Democratic Party, whether State, national, or municipal." The Anzeigemen, a Democratic paper of St. Louis, has dropped the Democratic State ticket from the head of its columns.

Greeley's Silence.

From the Hartford Courant.

While the Greeley organs are filled with vile charges of fraud and corruption against Senator Wilson and other prominent Republicans, which they are called upon to deny, it will be well to remember that Mr. Greeley stands accused, on responsible authority, of having made secret bargainings with leading Democrats to obtain the Presidential nomination; also of having expressed himself in favor of pensioning rebel soldiers; and also of having been a partner with Wm. M. Tweed in a cigar manufactory, to none of which charges has Mr. Greeley or his organ made any definite denials. The people of the country would like to know if these charges are false. They are all of them important, and silence, according to the Tribune, is a confession of guilt. They are substantiated, not by any mere pencil memorandum, but by legal documents and the sworn testimony of reputable men. Are we to construe Mr. Greeley's failure to respond as evidence of their truth, and be forced to believe that the man who has such a national reputation for "honesty," entered into secret bargainings with Democratic leaders looking to his future profit, at a time when he was a member of the Republican National Committee, and professedly working for the interest of the party? Must we believe that with the hope of securing Democratic votes, the man, who is now the Democratic candidate for President, allowed himself to be considered as favorable to burdening the country with additional debt for the purpose of paying pensions to rebel soldiers? Must we believe that the man who, during his entire life, has condemned the use of tobacco as foolish and demoralizing, has himself engaged in efforts to deprave the youth of the country by the manufacture of the very articles whose use he has so strongly condemned, and that in this business he associated himself with the most notoriously corrupt public man of the infamous Tammany Ring? These seem to us more important considerations than the particular beliefs of Mr. Wilson twenty years ago, or the fact that Gen. Grant has appointed a second cousin to a small post-office.

Some of the Influential California Democrats who Oppose Greeley.

The San Francisco Republican says that Judge Stephen J. Field, of the Supreme Court, who was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President in 1868, has signified to his friends his intention not to support Greeley. The Republican also says: "There are thousands of honest Democrats in this State who will not sanction the bargain and sale of the Baltimore Convention. Among those who have already pronounced against Greeley may be named Ex-Gov. Haight, Dr. C. M. Hitchcock, E. L. Goulo, the distinguished lawyer; Ex-Clerk of the Supreme Court George Seckel, George Pearce, of Sonoma, late candidate for Congress; J. Mora Moss, Esq.; Major Richard P. Hammond, Ex-Police Judge W. D. Sawyer, Col. W. H. Bell, Major J. P. Gillis, Hon. Jackson Temple, Ex-Justice of the Supreme Court; David Hudson, of Napa County; John R. Jarboe, Milton Andros, J. C. McCeney, James L. Crittenden, of the San Francisco Bar; Hon. Charles T. Botts, late Judge of the Supreme Court; also, Hon. S. C. Hastings, formerly Chief-Justice of the State."

Miscellaneous Notes.

The Republicans of the Second District of Washington County have nominated Eleazer Jones for the Assembly. He is a Welchman, and the Troy Times says is a man of ability, integrity and popularity....An Ohio paper publishes the names of near a hundred Democratic farmers in Warren County, that State, who declare that they will not vote for Greeley....It is said that fifteen or twenty Democratic papers in Georgia are supporting O'Conor and Adams....W. W. Merritt, a Universalist minister, has been nominated for Congress by the Greeleyites of the Eighth District of Iowa, in place of W. H. H. Pusey, declined....The Kingston Journal, by authority, denies that Gen. T. B. Gates, formerly of that city, is "out for Greeley." He is for Grant, unreservedly....The Prairie du Chien (Wis.) Courier has placed the names of O'Conor and Adams at the head of its columns....Gen. George W. Latham announces that he is a Greeleyite candidate for Congress in the Second District of West Virginia. He is the third candidate self-announced on that side.

Straight-Out Electoral Ticket in Connecticut.

The supporters of O'Conor and Adams in Connecticut have placed in nomination the following electoral ticket:

At Large—Ex-Congressman William D. Bishop, of Bridgeport; Mayor James S. Carew, of Norwich.

District—First, Gen. William B. Franklin, of Hartford; Second, Judge Samuel Ingham, of Essex; Third, Ex-Senator Benjamin Stark, of New-London; Fourth, Judge Miles T. Granger, of North Canaan. Four of the Connecticut Electors on the Greeley ticket were well known as members of the Know-nothing Party.

Gen. Grant's Ante-War Views.

On the authority of the late Major Mace, of Lafayette, Ind., with whom Grant stopped over Sunday when on his way to accept the Colonelcy of the Illinois Twenty-first Regiment, tendered him by Gov. Yates, the Springfield Journal relates the following: "During the entertainment, the negro being the subject of warm discussion, an Ohio officer, whose name we omit, (for he afterward performed patriotic service,) said that, should he have command of an army in a slave State, drawn up in line of battle, with a rebel force in front of him, about to begin the fight, and the slaves should rise in insurrection against their masters, he would suspend the battle, and unite with the rebel army in suppressing the revolt. To this Col. Grant, in a quiet, delicate voice, replied that, while reluctant to give offense or wound the feelings of a brother officer, he must say that a man who could express such a sentiment was not far from being a traitor! A belligerent scene followed, which required all the tact of Major Mace and his other guests to compose. This fact was related in our hearing, by Major Mace, just after the close of the war, in familiar illustration of the changes of opinion which the war brought about, and long before Gen. Grant was thought of for President."

Bring Them to Book.

From the St. Louis Democrat, Sept. 17.

There are several newspaper "banters" on foot, but we do not believe they will ever assume the form of bets. The NEW-YORK TIMES having backed the Tribune out of one proposition, turns to the Cincinnati Commercial and offers to bet $5,000 with that journal that it can disprove the charge that Tom Murphy contributed to the purchase of the President's cottage at Long Branch—the loser to pay the money to some charitable institution. This is a fair offer to a concern which has so often asserted what the TIMES offers to disprove. But of course the Commercial backs out at the first sign of "business."

We are not willing that the Democrat's proposition shall be entirely lost sight of in the multiplicity of wagers that are floating around. We stated it a few days ago, and it is this: We will take the list of delegates to the Cincinnati Convention, as officially published, and we will pay $1,000 in cash for every man on it who cannot be proved a sorehead or a bummer, or a disappointed office-seeker, or a kicked-out office-holder, if any other journal or any individual will agree to give us $100 for every man on that list who can be proved to come under some one of these designations. In other words, our bet is that we can prove that ninety per cent. of the delegates to Cincinnati were bummers, soreheads, disappointed office-seekers, or kicked-out office-holders. There is money in this for any one who believes that the Cincinnati Convention was composed of disinterested patriots. Suppose the Convention to have consisted of 600 delegates. The person accepting our proposition has only to prove that sixty of these were "disinterested patriots," and even should the remaining 540 be soreheads and bummers, he will still come out of the transaction $6,000 ahead. It is the best pecuniary opening of the campaign, and if the Greeleyites are wide awake they will invest in it immediately.

Suffolk County Convention.

The following Republican nominations for officers of the County of Suffolk were made in Convention at Riverhead on Wednesday: Member of Assembly, John E. Marcy, of Riverhead; County Treasurer, Stephen B. French, of Sag Harbor; District-Attorney, James H. Tuthill, of Riverhead; Superintendent of County Poor, E. Hampton Mulford, of Orient; Justice of Sessions, Henry H. Preston, of Shelter Island; Coroners, Edward H. Hamill, of Islip; James I. Baker, Yaphank; E. D. Skinner, of Cutchogue; School Commissioners, S. Orlando Lee, Huntington; Horace H. Benjamin, Riverhead.

The following Democratic nominations for Suffolk County officers were made in Convention at Riverhead on Tuesday last: Member of Assembly, James E. Baylis; County Treasurer, David F. Vail; District-Attorney, James H. Stanbrough; Superintendent of Poor, Ellsworth Tuthill; School Commissioners, C. D. Elmer and Thomas S. Mount.

The Yorkville Grant and Wilson Club.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Yorkville Grant and Wilson Campaign Club was held last night in the Hall of the East Side Association, Eighty-sixth-street and Third-avenue—Mr. Henry C. Robinson presiding. After initiating a large number of new members, Mr. W. W. Northrup, in an able review of the Republican Party from its earliest history down to the present, showed that it had done more for the country than any other party, and was entitled to the support of all true patriots. The speaker at considerable length refuted the various charges made against the Republican Party, proving them to be entirely without foundation. In alluding to Horace Greeley's acceptance of the Democratic nomination, he said the only excuse that could be made for the poor old man was that he had "office on the brain," which was such a deep-seated disease that even the doses of medicine administered by the honest Republicans of West Virginia, Vermont, North Carolina and Maine could not cure it. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Horace Russell and others.

Italians for Grant.

At a crowded meeting of the Societa D' Italiani Cittadini di Nuova York, (Society of Italian Citizens of New-York,) held, last evening, at the Metropolitan Rooms, Hester-street, it was resolved to form themselves into a Grant and Wilson Italian Campaign Club. Col. Zinelli made a powerful speech eulogistic of Grant and Wilson, and stating that the election of Grant was necessary to keep peace at home and abroad, his Administration was faultless, and he hoped that the whole country would show their confidence in him by a re-election with an increased majority. Officers were elected, and after speeches from several prominent Italian citizens the meeting adjourned.

Neatly Put.

Judge L. Crounse, the Republican candidate for Congress in Nebraska, has consented to meet Col. J. F. Warner, the Greeleyite nominee, on the stump in that State. In his reply he pointedly says: "Your challenge seems to be modeled after a form out of date in this campaign. You propose a discussion of 'All questions of national and State policy.' In the Liberal speeches I have heard and read, there has been so little discussion of principles and so much of abuse of the President, that I shall be disappointed to find that you have expressed exactly what you mean. But, whether to discuss the questions suggested, or to defend the President, I shall be most happy to meet you at the times and places already fixed for me, and divide the time with you."

Various Matters.

Democrats in Maryland are much dissatisfied with the nomination of Ex-Gov. Bradford on the Greeley electoral ticket of their State. It is only in the close States that they believe in "reconciliation"—for the sake of the offices....Col. Prosser, of Nashville, says that he neither desires, expects or intends to become a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District of Tennessee....Mr. J. Brisbin Walker, Republican, has withdrawn as a candidate for Congress in the Third District of West Virginia at the October election; and Capt. J. S. Swan, a Democrat, has announced himself as an independent candidate. ....Gen. N. P. Banks denies that he has any idea of running for Congress in the Fourth District of Massachusetts. If he is a candidate it will be in his old district....James W. Bullock has announced himself as an independent candidate for Congress in the Tenth District of Kentucky. ....Hon. Alexander R. Boteler is on the track as an independent candidate for Congress in the Second District of West Virginia, against B. Frank Martin, the Democratic nominee....The Rhode Island Democratic State Convention to nominate electors will be held in Providence on Tuesday, Oct. 8.

A New Reformer.

Little Tommy Ryan, keeper of a liquor-store corner Forty-first-street and Eighth-avenue, is one of the electors on the Greeley and Brown ticket to be voted for at the coming election. He held a sinecure place under Tweed of $125 a month, which he had to divide with another party, Ryan getting only $50 per month. This was the price paid him for selling out Ledwith in the Twenty-second Ward.

Political Personals.

Ex-President Theodore D. Woolsey expresses his conviction that Mr. Greeley "would be a most undesirable Chief Magistrate for this country—more undesirable than almost any Republican of importance in politics."....The Boston Advertiser says that the informal refusal of Mr. Sumner to accept the Democratic nomination for Governor of Massachusetts is already in the hands of the two Committees of the confederate Conventions who were authorized to fill vacancies occurring in the ticket....Mr. Benjamin Parke, formerly of Harrisburg, Penn., and at one time editor of the Keystone, the Democratic central organ published there, has declared himself for Gen. Grant and the whole Republican State ticket....The Greeleyites of the Second District of New-Jersey have nominated Samuel C. Forker for Congress....Hon. B. M. Tillman is the Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth District of Tennessee. Hon. William H. Wisner has been nominated for Presidential Elector in the same district....Secretary Robeson will speak once in each county of New-Jersey prior to the election.

Rensselaer County Nominations.

The Republicans of Rensselaer County have made the following nominations: For District-Attorney, John C. Green; Auditing Superintendents of Poor, Barent I. Van Hoesen and Jonathan Dennison (to fill vacancy;) Coroner, Lyman W. Davis; Justice of Sessions, James C. Enos. The Troy Whig believes that an energetic support will insure the ratification of these nominations at the polls.

SWINGING ROUND THE CIRCLE

Progress of Horace Greeley's Politico-Agricultural Journey.

Treason and Turnips, Reconciliation and Rutabagas Strangely Mixed.

Unhappy Rencounter with Veterans from Pittsburg.

The Great Sorehead Avenges Himself by Abusing their Convention—Hysteric Appeals for Votes in Pittsburg.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

INDIANA, Penn., Sept. 19.—Mr. Greeley left Altoona this morning at 7 A. M., on his Westward tour. There was scarcely a single resident of the city to bid him good-speed on his departure. Just before the train started, two immense trains bearing delegates from the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Pittsburg, arrived at the depot, and Mr. Greeley immediately became the object of many curious eyes. His greeting by the veterans was hardly such as he could desire. A prolonged "bah" was quickly raised, and such expressions as "You have arrived a day too late;" "Horace, what do you know about being beaten?" coupled with other not very complimentary phrases were heard on all sides. The reception accorded to Mr. Greeley displeased his supporters, and one irate gentleman, whose temper got the better of his judgment, created a good deal of merriment by denouncing them as loafers. The train moved off amid the jeers of thousands of the old warriors.

At Blairsville Junction, Mr. Greeley was treated with another meagre show of respect where an immense crowd of curious citizens had assembled at the depot. Mr. Greeley was formally introduced by Gov. Randolph. He did not deliver an address, but simply bowed. A cheer was called for by one of his friends, but only two persons in that vast assemblage responded, and the remainder with difficulty strove to conceal their disapprobation. Mr. Greeley returned to the carriage, and as he entered a voice was heard calling out: "I guess you have come into the wrong district," and immediately three hearty cheers were given for the Republican candidates, Grant and Wilson.

Arrival and Departure from Indiana—Reception at Pittsburg.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Sept. 19.—Mr. Greeley arrived at Indiana, Penn., at 11 A. M., and at 2 P. M. proceeded to enlighten the natives assembled at the Fair Ground on what he knows about farming. A large crowd manifested some curiosity to see him, but his appearance evoked no enthusiasm. Numbers of farmers, who have hitherto entertained the kindliest feeling toward him, expressed their disappointment at his conduct and political action, and hastily left the spot where he was speaking. His address consisted of a disquisition on the cultivation of all descriptions of grains and edibles, and his advice on the subject was received with quiet, good-natured merriment by his hearers. Manifestly they felt they knew as much on the subject as their modest preceptor. He left at 4 P. M.

In an address delivered before a small number at the depot in Greensburg, Mr. Greeley said:

I stand before you one who has differed widely with most of you in regard to politics in the past, and one who may differ from you just as widely in the future, but who, I trust, does not differ from you in this conviction, that the duty of the day overruling all other duties, overshadowing all other efforts, is the duty of national reconciliation, of bringing about a state of harmony and good feeling between the different sections of our country, and the different portions of our people. We have had war; we have had slavery; slavery is gone; reconstruction is perfect. I say for myself, careless of the result of the present contest, that since the close of the war I have urged that lenity, and mercy, and forbearance, and forgiveness, and magnanimity should be the controlling spirit of the American people. So I insist from this time onward that we who believe that the Union ought to be, that we should labor to rebuild the waste places of the war, to reunite the links which that war rudely broke, and make the people one in heart, one in purpose, as they are in political existence. Such seems to me the dictation of the statesmanship of Christianity. I beg of you to give your voices and efforts to make that work complete. [Cheers.]

IN PITTSBURG.

Mr. Horace Greeley arrived here at 7:20 P. M., and was received at the railroad depot by a large crowd with bands, banners, and torchlights. He was then escorted to the St. Charles House, where he delivered the following speech:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: The wise King says there is a time for war and a time for peace. The City of Pittsburg has recently witnessed a rehearsal of the pomp and pageantry, the blazonry and circumstance of civil war. A very large number of men were collected here at a vast expense, with the single purpose of rekindling the bitterness and hatred, the animosities and antipathies, the fears and exultations of civil war for the advantage of a political party. I take you to witness that the greater portion of the journals of Pittsburg, as well as the orators on this occasion, have been telling us the people hate each other, for the sake of a partisan advantage. A stranger would imagine, who was reading during the last few days, that we were still at war, and their purpose was to revive and to exasperate the hatred and animosity of civil war in order to intensify and invigorate their side of the conflict. They talk about rebels and traitors. Fellow-citizens, are we never to be done with this? We demanded it of our adversaries in the great civil war that they surrender their arms and go to their homes, and they surrendered them; we demanded that they abandon slavery and they abandoned slavery; we demanded that they enfranchise the blacks and the blacks are enfranchised; none but white men now stand disfranchised on the soil of our country [cheers;] we demanded that they stipulate the emancipated slaves shall not be paid for, and that the rebel debt shall never be paid by the Government or by the State, and they assented to that. So far as I can see every single demand made on the part of the loyal States and the loyal people, has been fully complied with on the part of those lately in rebellion. Everything has been done that we asked, everything has been conceded, and still they tell us "why we want them to repent." Have they not brought forth works meet for repentance? [Cheers.] And then coming together in solemn convention the representatives of that Southern people have given their assent to the platform of the Cincinnati Convention which was the most intense, the most complete Republican platform that had ever been presented by any national Convention whatever. All this being done, we are told by these gentlemen who met here, "All this is mockery; all this is fraud. You don't mean anything by it," and the cry goes on, "Rebels and traitors! rebels and traitors!" denunciation, proscription, the same as ever. Four years ago, in the Republican National Convention, it was declared that this proscription should speedily cease. Four years have passed and still it is maintained. There are this day thousands of people of Arkansas alone prohibited—the most intelligent, the most responsible people of that State—forbidden to exercise the right of suffrage; forbidden exclusively by the party that meets here and shouts for Grant and Wilson. Nobody else asks for proscription but they. No other party requires that any human being should stand proscribed on our soil for a rebellion that has ceased seven and a half years ago. No party, no men of any party but this, the very party that held a great military parade here this week in order to further and further separate and divide the hearts of the American people from each other. [Cheers.] They hold essential to their triumph that hatred should continue, that distrust, suspicion and alienation should continue. Do what you may, they are determined not to be satisfied.

Now, fellow-citizens, it is not enough that those who fought against the Union should be proscribed. Those of us who stood for it are equally denounced, if we do not happen to agree with them in our present politics. Here stands one who is charged by them with being a secessionist. Could that be true, fellow-citizens? Look the facts in the face. When Lincoln had been elected, and this conspiracy for secession began to advance itself, we Republicans were told by our own men, and told still more by those out of the circle, you must back out of your Republicanism, you must surrender your opposition to the extension of slavery or consent to a great civil war. This, they said, was the only alternative—bloodshed and devastation over the whole country, or you shall surrender the principles on which you have just carried the election. I was one of those who said no, there is no such alternative. I deny that the Southern people, the great majority of them, are against the Union. I demand that there shall be a fair, open, free discussion before that Southern people, and an honest, unterrified, unconstrained vote, and if they approve—if the people of the South say they want disunion I will consent to it. [Cheers.] I know they will not. I knew that the Southern people, that the great majority must have voted, as they actually did that Winter, not for secession, but for clinging to the Union. [Cheers.] And now today, if the nation was to be imperiled, and there were just two modes of saving it, to trust to the chances of a civil war or to the chances of a free vote of the Southern people, I would very greatly prefer to take the latter chance rather than the former. [Cheers.] For, fellow-citizens, they do greatly misunderstand or malign this American people when they assume that in cold blood, before there had been any clash of arms, the people in the South, any more than the people in the North, desired disunion. In its inception, in its origin, the great masses of those who consented to this secession movement meant nothing by it but to back down the North and make us consent to the extension of slavery. That was their purpose, and that purpose I did my best to resist and defeat. [Cheers.]

Well, the war is ended. I think it ought to be ended. [A voice: "Oh, let us have peace!"] We had a great, a terrible, a bloody and a destructive civil war. Our success was perfect. The defeat of the adversary was more complete than any defeat recorded in history. They have suffered much—they have conceded all. Cannot we afford to be magnanimous, at least? [Cheers.] But see, fellow-citizens; they see that the Southern people may vote; some of them may; but the instant they vote the cry is raised, "See how these fellows vote." They cry, "You must vote the other way." Is that an election? It is only the fashion of war in another aspect. Fellow-citizens, you belong to one of the great hives of American industry. I plead here for peace and reconciliation of the interests especially of this busy, prosperous, energetic people. [Cheers.] How I have sympathized with Pittsburg, how I have rejoiced in her prosperity, how I have wondered and admired her magnificent growth, you surely do know. No place on this continent has been dearer to me than Pittsburg. There has been no spot in whose prosperity I have more heartily rejoiced, and this is because I believe her prosperity was firmly linked and bound together with the prosperity and growth of our whole county. Now, I appeal to her business men, I appeal to her merchants, I appeal to her manufacturers to stop this war. It has gone on long enough. You cannot afford to teach your country to hate you, to feel that your success, your greatness is idential with their humiliation. People of Pittsburg, I ask you to take a generous part in this work of reconciling your countrymen to each other. [Applause.] I ask you to take the hand held out to you by our Southern brethren in their adoption of the Cincinnati platform by those who were our enemies, but are again our fellow-countrymen. I ask you to grasp that hand and say, "Brothers, we differed, we fought, the war is ended; let us again be fellow-countrymen, and forget that we have been enemies." Friends and fellow-citizens, I bid you good night. [Loud applause and prolonged cheering.]

Mr. Greeley and suite will leave Pittsburg tomorrow morning at 1½ A. M., and will arrive in Cincinnati at 2:35 P. M.

Greeley and the Soldiers—Another Tribune Fabrication.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 19.—A special dispatch from Pittsburg received here today says: "The New-York Tribune's pretense that anybody's reference to Greeley was condemned, is a ludicrous misrepresentation. No imaginable severity in condemning his course would have been too strong for the Convention which was unanimously red-hot against him."

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Oil Regions Awake—Hon. Henry Wilson at Franklin—Great Outpouring of the People.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

FRANKLIN, Penn., Sept. 19.—This city, the geographical and political centre of the oil regions, has witnessed today, notwithstanding frequent heavy storms, one of the largest Republican demonstrations which has ever taken place in North-western Pennsylvania. The citizens for miles around have given the day to the cause, and under the inspiration of soul-stirring speeches again expressed their adherence to the principles of the Republican Party and its leaders. At 1 o'clock Hon. Henry Wilson, accompanied by distinguished local politicians, arrived from Meadville, where he addressed an immense meeting last evening, and was received by the Grant and Wilson Lancers, Colored Tanner Club, and other organizations, and escorted to the Exchange Hotel, where he was greeted with the most enthusiastic cheers by an immense assemblage gathered to pay him homage. In the afternoon he addressed a large out-door meeting, which, notwithstanding frequent showers, listened attentively for over an hour to his review of the issues of the national canvass. Just before the conclusion of the Senator's speech a special train arrived from Pittsburg bringing Hon. Simon Cameron, Gen. Hartranft, Republican candidate for Governor, Judge Mercur, Col. Wm. Phillips, Col. J. J. Lawrence and other distinguished gentlemen. They were received by the various organizations and escorted to the public square; but, unfortunately, just as they arrived on the ground, a furious storm set in and dispersed the meeting. Special trains toward evening brought additional clubs, and hundreds of citizens from towns on the Oil Creek Road, the Allegheny Valley Road, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, and the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad. The large number of visitors present rendered necessary the organization of two evening meetings, one in the Court-house, presided over by Hon. G. W. Gilfillan, and the other in the Oilmen's League building, Mr. J. D. O. McJunkin, presiding. The meeting at the Court-house was addressed by Gen. Griffith, of New-Hampshire; Gen. Hartranft, Major C. E. Behler, of Chicago; and Col. H. L. Richmond, candidate for Congress in this district. The other meeting was addressed by Senator Wilson.

How Greeley Demonstrations are Made—There Existence Only on Paper.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SCRANTON, Penn., Sept. 19.—The dispatch from this city in today's New-York Tribune is too gross a fabrication to go uncontradicted. There was no torchlight procession here last evening, as stated therein, nor any such demonstration as is claimed. There were not 300 persons in the Greeley "farm-house" to hear J. J. Stewart, and the whole affair was a failure.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW.

The American Minister at Bolivia on the Political Situation.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—A letter has lately been received here from L. Markbret, our Minister to Bolivia, and half-brother of Mr. Hassaurek, of Cincinnati, in which he uses the following language in regard to Greeleyite movements: "I assure you that I cannot comprehend this unreasonable and most unjust discontent of some of the so-called Liberal Republicans with Gen. Grant. What, in the name of common sense, do they want? He recommended to Congress, civil service reform. He is doing and has done all in his power to reform the service. It is said that he has appointed a number of his relations to office. Well, if out of an army of over fifty thousand office-holders he has appointed five or six, or a dozen of his relatives, I don't think that it will ruin the nation. The fault is that they don't know themselves what they want. I, at a distance of so many thousand miles, by a careful reading of our newspapers, am, perhaps, better able to judge the situation than many a person at home, who, by hearing the constant croakings of the soreheads, become prejudiced against the Administration, and when I calmly survey the course of Gen. Grant since the inauguration, I feel convinced that he has been a complete success, and has done all, and even more, than he promised. Do not suppose that I write this because I fear to lose my position here. Bolivia is no paradise, and, should I be recalled to-morrow, the joy at seeing home, family and friends would be so intense that it would probably more than balance the annoyance of being decapitated. The truth is, that I suffered so much from the rebels during my fourteen months' imprisonment in the South that I cannot bear to see them receiving and aid comfort from men of my own party, who should know better than to endanger the peace and prosperity of our country."

NEW-YORK.

Grand Meeting in Jamestown—Speech of Senator Conkling.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The day opened cloudy and what seemed to be an equinoxial storm commenced, the rain falling in torrents. Notwithstanding all this, large crowds of people began to pour in, and the stands were filled with throngs, who came by all kinds of conveyances. Carroll was the first with the regular delegation, which came in with a band of music, flags and banners. Soon after Busti came, headed by a troop of horsemen, most of them soldiers. Afterward came delegations from Maysville, by boat, and from Fredonia by the Delaware Western Railroad. Then a long procession from Harmony, Sherman and Clymer. All these delegations had music and banners and made a splendid show, although the rain was falling all the while, and occasionally with violence.

At 2 P. M. the rink, which will hold 4,000 people, was densely filled, and the meeting was organized with John Fordham, Esq., for Chairman. After music by the band and singing, the Chairman introduced Senator Conkling, who was greeted with cheers. He had hardly begun his speech when the music of a band approaching the rink was heard, with a delegation from Corry and the towns on the line of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, reaching from the rink to the depot, and it was announced that at least 2,000 people were outside who could not obtain admittance. After a short time the speaker resumed his speech, and was listened to with attention, eliciting the greatest applause and enthusiasm.

The Senator thoroughly discussed the pretended issues of the campaign, civil service reform, amnesty and centralization. He showed from the record the position of Horace Greeley upon those points, formerly and at present, and the utter untrustworthiness of the man and the grievous errors of judgment, to speak mildly, which he had committed. He quoted the declarations of Southern men as to the purposes of the South, and Mr. Greeley's own statements of the condition of the South on his return from Texas. He showed from the record how not only the Democrats, but the "assistant Democrats," had united in attempted legislation looking to the payment of Southern and rebel claims, which legislation was sometimes defeated by Gen. Grant's veto, and sometimes by Republican votes. He overhauled the malicious slanders heaped upon the President, showing their utter falsity. The Senator was in the vein for speaking, and his numerous hits were thoroughly appreciated and most enthusiastically applauded.

The meeting adjourned with three cheers for the Senator, three for Grant and Wilson and three for Dix and Robinson. This evening there is to be a grand torchlight procession. The fires are burning brightly in old Chautauqua, and you can count on us for at least 3,500 Republican majority.

RHODE ISLAND.

Newport Ablaze with Republican Illuminations and Enthusiasm.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 19.—Never before in Newport's history has such a political demonstration taken place as the one of to-night. The city is a perfect blaze of Republican glory, the occasion of which is the inauguration of the campaign for the support of the nation's standard-bearers, Grant and Wilson. The demonstration began with a grand torch-light procession by the Grant and Wilson Club, the Boys in Blue, and large numbers of our citizens in general, the whole being headed by fire-works and red-lights, which lighted up the entire route. After the procession a handsome campaign flag, 18 by 24 feet, bearing the names of Grant and Wilson, was thrown to the breeze, and stirring, patriotic speeches were made in the Park by Hon. William P. Sheffield, Hon. C. C. Van Zandt and others. Newport County is awake, and will contribute her mite to defeat Greeley in November.

TENNESSEE.

The Johnson Nashville Meeting Eclipsed by the Republicans Last Night.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 19.—Hon. J. M. Langston addressed an immense Grant and Wilson meeting on Court-house square to-night. The assembly contained double the number that attended the Johnson meeting a few weeks since. The crowd was perfectly orderly and exceedingly attentive. The enthusiasm for Grant and Wilson was earnest and spontaneous.

The Appointment of Election Inspectors—Commissioner Manierre to Name the Republican Inspectors.

An important meeting of the Board of Police was held yesterday to take action in regard to the appointment of Inspectors of Election. Commissioners Bosworth, Barr, and Manierre, and Mayor Hall were present.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, Upon information given to the Board and in construction of Section 13 of the Election law, the naming of "Inspectors" who represent the "minority" referred to in said section, belongs, in the language of said section, to Commissioner Manierre, unless Commissioner Smith, who is now absent sick, shall hereafter claim a right, under such section, to participate in the minority naming, the Board at present having no official information regarding Mr. Smith's views.

The adoption of this resolution gives to Commissioner Manierre the appointment of two Inspectors of Election at each of the 519 polling places in this City, of the party favoring the election of Gen. Dix, thus controlling the naming of the entire force of Republican inspectors.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Bosworth:

Resolved, That the Board will appoint or transfer inspectors, so that each one of the latter shall serve in an election district of which he is a resident, except for special reasons that arise upon considerations of due qualification under the law.

This resolution was not adopted, Commissioner Bosworth and Mayor Hall voting in its favor, and Commissioners Manierre and Barr against it.

A large number of inspectors of election were then appointed, and the Chief of the Bureau of Elections was directed to have them sworn in. The list of inspectors will be completed in about ten days, when they will be officially announced in the papers selected by the Board.

THE COMMITTEE OF SEVENTY.

Meeting at the Chamber of Commerce—Address of the President—The Work to be Done.

The first regular meeting, for the present year, of the Committee of Seventy, was held yesterday, at the Chamber of Commerce, Hon. Wm. F. Havemeyer presiding, for the purpose of taking into further consideration the cause of reform. The meeting was well attended, almost every seat in the Chamber being occupied. Upon the meeting being organized, the President delivered the following address:

GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMITTEE: As this meeting introduces you again to the labors which have been intermitted for the past few months, I must be permitted, before proceeding to the business before us, to congratulate you, on your return to duty, upon the health and other blessings which have in the interval been vouchsafed to you, and to hope that your recreations have given you new strength for the work which will be necessary to satisfy the objects and purposes of our organization.

It is true that during the past year much has been accomplished by this Committee and its co-workers in the cause of reform. The infamous Tammany Ring has been broken up. The delinquent Judges have been removed from office, for which act the Bar Association and the Senate of our State is entitled to the grateful thanks of this community. Indictments have been found against most of the wrong-doers, the early prosecution of whom will, I hope, result, if not in the return of all the money unlawfully and fraudulently taken from the City, at least in their conviction, and in the punishment they deserve.

Since the adjournment of this Committee, the great political parties of the country have placed in nomination, for the indorsement of the people, their respective candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President of the United States. And while on this question each member of this Committee has undoubtedly his own affinities, and will act accordingly, it is one with which the Committee has nothing to do. Our business is and should be confined, by the authority which appointed us, to the reform and purification of the City and State Governments, matters in which, I am happy to know, there are no differences of opinion among us. I say the State Government, because to the State we must appeal for the necessary laws to protect the City in the future, and to punish those guilty of the monstrous wrongs which have been committed against it. The Legislature last year failed to give to the City the laws that were and are necessary to clear out of power and place the real friends and allies of the chief conspirators against the public treasury. Nearly every Department of the City Government is filled with them, every one of whom would, if the voice of the people could be heard, be driven from their places. They are still drawing enormous salaries, and occupy their time chiefly in thwarting and obstructing the efforts of honest men toward reform and a better state of things.

It is unnecessary to recur to the influences that combined to prevent the necessary legislation last Winter. It is well known that they had their seat and source in the Departments of this City; and it requires no very keen sight to see that the same influences are again actively at work to elect members of the Assembly to keep them in office, and to control legislation for their corrupt ends. Each Department has the power to contract obligations; and to avoid a perpetual fight to keep them within bounds, we must be rid of them.

It is our duty to arouse the country on this subject, and to frustrate the schemes and plans of those who thrive and fatten on taxes wrung from the hard earnings of honest labor. To do this, it will be essential that only known, tried, and approved men be sent to the Legislature. It is not enough that some one says the proposed candidate is a good man. He should be known to be such to his whole constituency. Otherwise, the mere tools of the corrupt Departments of the City Government will be sent to Albany to thwart and prevent your efforts for a reform of the Government.

The general ticket system for the election of Aldermen gives us a good opportunity to elect a select and good Board, and will enable us to avoid all the mistakes which attach to last year's work in this direction. You will all recollect the conspicuous causes of the failure to secure legislation for this City last Winter. The influence of the Executive of this State, to his lasting disgrace, was steadily against it, and the Departments of this City, with one or two exceptions, met us with their hostility at every point. But the end of this has, I hope, arrived. The cry of reform has reached every quarter of the State. Every thinking man sees that we must have better men in official life, and that thieves and plunderers must depart, and give place to honest men.

The powers of Government should be restored to the people acting through their elected representatives. The Common Council should be invested with a supervision of all the Departments. Under our present system the Departments rule the Common Council. This rule should be changed and reversed. The power to contract debts should be restricted and controlled, or we can have no economy in the Government. No more laws should be passed authorizing the issue of bonds, on the demand of any of the Departments, to carry on public improvements inaugurated by such Departments, and thus sanction the employment, at stated periods, of a large force of men to be manipulated and controlled in the interest of their employers. The work of the City should be done by contract and fair letting, and should not be given to favorites at enormous prices, at the sacrifice of the most important interests of the City.

To effect the objects of our appointment, and to restore to the people of this City, by a reform of the charter, the entire power of controlling and managing their own affairs, of which, by vicious legislation, they have been deprived, we must be ready to act in harmony with any and all organizations that seek the results we desire, subordinating, perhaps, some of our own wishes, in order that things essential may be secured.

With these remarks I commend the cause of the people to your care, with the hope—I would say the assurance—that no effort on your part will be spared to relieve the people from the burden which now oppresses them, but which, through their culpable, if not criminal, disregard of the duties of good citizenship, has, to a great extent, been self-imposed, and by such amendments of the charter as will give them a responsible representative supervision of their own affairs, secure to them the enjoyment of the rewards of their industry, and protect them against the rowdyism and crime which a corrupt Government is sure to create, patronize and maintain.

In conclusion, I would appeal to every man in this community, irrespective of party, nationality or sect; to every man who earns his daily bread by the sweat of his brow; to every young man who is just commencing the battle of life; to every man who, during a life of honest industry, has put aside from his earnings a sufficient support for his declining years; to the millionaire, whose possessions are only safe under just laws honestly administered, to co-operate with you in accomplishing those necessary reforms in our Government and its administration, which the exigences of our City affairs imperatively demand.

After the reading of the address, a number of communications from various Reform Associations, asking for Conference Committees, &c., were then read and referred.

Mr. Henry N. Beers was, on motion, appointed a Committee of one on securing permanent rooms for the use of the body during their future sessions.

The appointment of a Committee on Elections was next moved and carried and Mr. Joseph H. Choate chosen as the Chairman. This committee, when organized, was instructed to go to work as soon as possible, for the purpose of securing a continuance of the good results achieved during the past year.

The Committee of Seventy, after some slight debate on the objects of the present and prospective meetings, adjourned until Tuesday next.

A Lad Dangerously Injured—His Ante-Mortem Statement.

Coroner Herrman, yesterday, took the ante-mortem deposition of Patrick Morrissey, a lad who is lying at his parents' residence, No. 131 Watts-street, in a dangerous condition, from the effects of injuries received on the 2d inst., by being struck on the head by an iron hook, alleged to have been thrown at him by his employer, Frederick Ewing, of No. 252 Greenwich-street. On the date mentioned a quarrel occurred between the lad and his employer. Patrick was, at that time, standing under the hoistway putting some boxes in a sling to be hoisted. His employer stood at the open hatchway on the third floor, and the lad alleges that Mr. Ewing threw a piece of rope, with an iron hook attached, down the hoistway at him. The iron hook struck the lad on the head, causing the injuries, from which it is feared death will ensue. A verdict was rendered against Mr. Ewing, and the Coroner issued a warrant for his arrest.

The Custody of the Viele Children—More Complex Developments in the Case.

In March last a writ of habeas corpus was issued from the Supreme Court, to determine the right to the custody of their four children, as between Gen. Egbert L. Viele and his wife, Teresa. Before argument was had an order was entered by mutual consent, discontinuing the writ, the father being at the time custodian of the three older children, while Mrs. Viele retained possession of the youngest. In the order discontinuing the habeas corpus was incorporated a clause awarding the custody of the children to the parties as they then stood. Recently, as already published, Mrs. Viele, in company with two male friends, made a raid on the General's house at Lake Mahopac, and carried off Emily, one of the three children awarded to the custody of the father by the order of the Court, as entered. Proceedings are now being taken to prosecute one Livison for aiding in kidnapping the girl Emily, and a requisition has been issued by Gov. Hoffman to bring him from New-Jersey. Yesterday, Ex-Judge Fullerton, counsel for Mrs. Viele, appeared before Judge Leonard, Supreme Court, Chambers, for the purpose of moving to vacate that part of the order which awarded to Gen. Viele the custody of the three children, claiming that they only assented to the clause which discontinuing the proceeding on habeas corpus and remitting the parties to their natural rights as custodians of the children, the other portion being without their knowledge or consent; that the warrant against Levison was based on this objectionable portion of the order, and it was now sought to bring the parties to the abduction into contempt of Court by virtue of an order which they never saw or heard of.

Mr. Warren, on behalf of Gen. Viele, asked an adjournment for a few days until the attorney who issued the order could be present, as his testimony was necessary to explain the understanding upon which the order had been entered.

Judge Leonard adjourned the hearing until this morning.

CRICKET.

Yesterday's Game at Hoboken—The English Players Victorious by a Score of 249 to 110.

It is hardly possible to conceive a more unpropitious morning for cricket than that which dawned on the English twelve yesterday; and yet they had to support their reputation, and run all the chances of batting on a dead ground, slipping between the wickets, and any other of the many vicissitudes of the game. But a clearing-up shower gladdened their hearts about 11 o'clock; the heavy clouds sped away, and before play was called at 12 o'clock the sun was shining brilliantly, as though nothing had been the matter. But the rainy morning had the effect of keeping away a vast number of spectators; and although all the twelve were on hand, many of the twenty-two did not arrive till long after the game had been resumed, thinking that the heavy rain would stop all play for the day. Some substitutes were consequently called into requisition.

Grace, after scoring two singles, one to leg and one to cover-point, and giving two easy chances which were not taken, sent a school-boy catch to Brewster at short slip. Scarcely had Ottaway been joined by Hornby when, in the next over, he was easily caught by Jones at slip. Hornby played a very careful inning of 17 with Francis, who ran up 28 in dashing style and in very quick time. But in spite of caution the ball was so greasy that it would run up the bat, and Hornby gave Eyre a chance to catch him at leg, which he missed, and also an easy one to Harry Wright at right field, which he also missed. He was, however, caught on the next ball at cover point by Keller. Francis was caught and bowled by Greig, who had been put on to bowl at the lower wicket. The twenty-two had played nearly if not every bowler in their team, but when the two Lubbocks went to the wickets they seemed almost at their wits' ends to know who to put on. A. Lubbock cut the ball about in all directions, and his brother supported him by playing an exceedingly steady game. He played a brilliant inning of 51, including one 6, five 3s, and three 2s. His brother scored 15, including two 3s and one 2. Mr. Pickering was unlucky, he only scoring three single runs, when he was bowled by Greig, with a terrific shooter. This was the only wicket bowled on the English side. Hadow was run out after a splendid cut for 3 to cover point, and Hon. G. Harris was caught by Lemon, after scoring 9, including two fine hits to leg for 3 each. Appleby took his place, but only succeeded in adding 5 to the score, when he was caught by Jones at mid-off. Mr. Rose, the twelve's slow bowler, was unlucky; for before he had a chance to make a run, Fitzgerald was cleverly caught by Hatfield at right field, off the first ball he played. The inning showed a score of 249, against the 66 of the twenty-two; by no means a pleasant number to have to make up under the circumstances.

But the New-Yorkers went to the wickets with willing hearts and with a determination to block, which was soon forgotten to the bowling of Appleby and Grace. And here again they had a magnificent lesson in cricket, the positions in which Grace placed his men. His bowling, though round hand, is comparatively slow and tempting to hit at, and many a fine hit was made off it. But it was a mere trap. Every hit that was made and looked like going out of bounds, seemed to drop as if by magic into the hands of a man standing just inside the flags. Nearly all of the best men of the twenty-two were caught out by this judicious disposition of the English fielders, who also made two or three fine running catches. George Wright and Hatfield were the first to take the bat, but Hatfield was soon treated to a shooter by Appleby, which took his off stump. Harry Wright then joined his brother and together they made a very good showing for the others to work upon. George Wright scored 14, including three 3s, when he was caught at square leg by A. Lubbock. His brother made 9, including one 3 and two 2s, when he was cleverly caught by Ottaway at the wicket. Mr. Ottaway's wicket keeping was even prettier than that of yesterday. He stumped two men and caught two others, and several bad narrow escapes from his nimble fingers. Jones and Keller were the only ones who did anything after the retirement of the Wrights, the former scoring 5 and the latter 4. Eight men were caught or bowled out, without a run, and the majority of the others did not score more than 1 each. The innings was more disastrous than that of Wednesday, the total score of the twenty-two being only 44, of which the Wrights contributed 23—more than one-half. It was a matter of common remark all over the ground how strange was the difference between the batting of the twenty-two and their bowling and fielding. Were it raised to the same standard, the English would have had a hard tussle to win. As it was, they won easily in one innings, with 139 runs to spare. This was partly the result of nervousness on the part of the twenty-two, partly from want of practice—defects which can easily and ought to be quickly remedied. A man who is a first-class bowler, like Brewster, is not likely to be a startling batsman. But he does his part in the bowling. The others should do theirs in the batting.

The Dougan Child Controversy—Arrest of Dougan for Assault.

The contest over the Dougan child, who, it is claimed, was about to be thrown into an ash-barrel, when only six months old, by her mother, the facts of which have already appeared in the TIMES, was renewed yesterday before Judge Leonard, in Supreme Court Chambers, on a motion to settle the order of reference. All the parties to the litigation were in Court, and, after adjournment, Dougan was immediately arrested by a Deputy Sheriff, in a civil suit to recover damages for the assault committed on Wittner, the other party to the proceeding, in the Court-room several days since. The order of arrest required the defendant to furnish bail in $2,000.

An Abandoned Ship—Her Cargo Seized by the Crew of Another Vessel.

The captain of the bark Lalla Rookh, which arrived yesterday morning from Liverpool, reports that at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 6th inst., while in latitude 42 02 north, and longitude 52 40 west, a dismasted vessel was seen about a mile and a half distant. On approaching her in a boat it was found that she was the ship Calhoun, abandoned at sea on the 2d of this month, and that the bark Kings County, of Windsor, Nova Scotia, was lying by her. The mate and a boat's crew of the Kings County were on board of the Cahoun, which they reported to have only two and a half feet of water in the hold, and would not allow any one else to board her. They had been transferring the cargo to their own vessel, and refused to say whether they intended to bring the abandoned ship to port.

Newtown Bonds Repudiated.

At a recent meeting of the Newtown Reform Association, it was voted to urge upon the Supervisor the necessity of refusing to pay the Blissville-avenue Bonds. Since then an opinion has been obtained from Judge Birdseye to the effect that the issuing of these bonds was contrary to law, and the payment of them can be successfully resisted. The matter has caused considerable excitement among the bond-holders and the residents of Long Island City, which is also effected by the disposition of the matter, as three-fifths of the debt of Newtown must be paid by Long Island City.

WEDNESDAY'S MEETING.

Vice-Presidents and Secretaries of the Republican Gathering at Cooper Union—A Strong Array.

No better indication of the sterling worth and character of the supporters of the Republican national candidates could be found than in the list of names which we print below. Honored representatives of every profession and in every walk of life in the metropolis may there be found—all earnest workers for the success of Gen. Grant. The Greeleyites might scour the entire country and, they would search in vain for so formidable an array of able and honest men.

A Prisoner Clubbed by an Officer and Then Arrested for Assault—The Matter Brought Before the Police Board.

The case of William Dunn, charged with assaulting Officer Patrick Ginley, of the Eleventh Precinct, was continued in the Court of General Sessions yesterday before Judge Bedford, having been adjourned from Wednesday. Dr. Nealis, of the Tombs, testified that when Dunn was brought to the Tombs he showed the marks of a dreadful beating, his back, legs and arms being a mass of bruises. Other witnesses testified that the officer had beaten Dunn most unmercifully and without cause at the time of the arrest, one witness stating that he had heard Ginley avow his intention of "going for" the old man. All the testimony went to show that the officer was the aggressor, but the whole case turned on a question of credibility, the officer swearing that he had not clubbed Dunn at all, while all the witnesses for the defense agreed in testifying to the conduct of the officer as being brutal. Judge Bedford, in charging the jury, said that the case was a most important one, affecting the rights of a Police officer on the one hand, and the privileges of a civilian. His charge was rather in favor of the prisoner, and the jury, after a short consultation, honorably acquitted Dunn. Judge Bedford then called Ginley to the bar, and addressed him as follows:

"The jury having acquitted the prisoner in this case, necessarily believed his story and discredited the assertions of Officer Ginley. This is a most important case, for it involves not only the rights and privileges of the policeman, but also the rights of the private citizen. While I have always, in my official capacity, stood by the Municipal Police as a body, believing them as a general rule brave and trustworthy, yet I have always deemed it my duty to take the part of a private citizen whenever the proof showed him to be wronged by a policeman in the abuse of his authority. I feel called upon in behalf of the Police Department, as well as in behalf of citizens generally, to request the Board of Police Commissioners to investigate this matter thoroughly, having every confidence to believe that they will act promptly in accordance with the proof."

Judge Bedford sent the following letter to the Police Board:

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW-YORK,
COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE,
CLERK'S OFFICE, Sept. 19, 1872.

To the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners, City of New-York:

On the trial of an indictment against one William Dunn, for an assault and battery with intent to kill, who was acquitted by the jury, it appeared from the testimony that the officer, Patrick Ginley, of the Eleventh Precinct, who was complainant against Dunn, was guilty of unnecessary violence toward Dunn by striking him with his club and causing the assault by Dunn complained of by the officer. I think it calls for an investigation by your Commission of the conduct of the officer on that occasion.

Respectfully, GUNNING S. BEDFORD,
Presiding Judge.

Board of Audit—Settling Up City Debts.

The Board of Audit assembled yesterday in the Controller's office. The claims of Egbert L. Viele and others, on report of examiner, amounting in the aggregate to $4,382 73; of T. W. Tuthill and others, in the aggregate $691 70; of J. J. McMurray and Coy and others, in the aggregate $961 59; of P. C. Hubbett and others, in the aggregate $172 05, were allowed.

Among the claims presented for the first time and laid over, was that of Nelson J. Waterbury for professional services in relation to changing the grades of certain streets, $1,000. Commissioner Van Nort inquired in what manner the claim was presented. The Controller replied by the claimant. Commissioner Van Nort rejoined that he did not consider it the proper way to present the claim. It should properly come through the Department for whom the services were performed.

The Controller thought the manner of presentation legal enough.

President of Department of Public Parks—Well, it is certified.

Commissioner VAN NORT—Yes, by William M. Tweed. Finally it was agreed to lay it over.

The following claims were also allowed:

Stephen Angell, for services as examiner to Board, 143 hours, at $2 per hour	$286 00
Isaac S. Barrett, for do., 27 days, at $10 per day	270 00
J. R. Van Buskirk, do., 170 hours	170 00
Theo. Bourne, do., 27 days, at $8 per day	216 00
Robert Yelverton, for examining street lamps and burners, 5 days, at $10 per day	50 00
M. J. Maloney, for services as Assistant Clerk in Bureau of County Affairs, Controller's office, from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1871	294 35
The claims of the New-York Mercury for advertising	13,864 00
The claim of the NEW-YORK TIMES	16,978 80
J. G. & J. Edge, for fire-works July 4, 1871	10,000 00
Claims of various regiments under arms 12th July, 1871, and 7th November, 1871	9,333 56

The Board then adjourned to Thursday next, at 2 P. M.

The McIntyre Divorce—Controlling the New-York Press.

The case of Catharine McIntyre against Charles McIntyre, already noticed in the TIMES, was up yesterday, before Chief Justice Daly, in Common Pleas Chambers, on a motion to confirm the report of the referee, awarding a decree of divorce to plaintiff. On the case being called, counsel for plaintiff read to the Court a note he had received from Mr. James F. Morgan, who had hitherto acted as counsel for defendant, to the effect that, owing to the conduct of his client in censuring him for not having controlled the Press so as to exclude a report of the case, he did not feel justified in being longer identified with the suit. He would, therefore, remain as counsel in the case only until another could be substituted in his stead, and asked that consent be given to an adjournment until such counsel shall be selected. The case was adjourned accordingly until the coming week to allow defendant time to select other counsel to represent him.

Three Distinguished Emigrants—A Trio of Bruisers Off for England.

James Mace, the champion heavy-weight pugilist; William Edwards, the light-weight boxer, and Barney Aaron, another equally celebrated professor of what is termed the fistic art, left in the City of New-York yesterday morning for England. Mr. Aaron, who for many years past has been prominent in sporting circles, desired to visit his parents in London, and on finding an opportunity for combining profit with pleasure, accepted it and journeyed with his companions. Mr. Mace will return with his companions in three months' time, bringing with him his wife and family. He will open a sporting hotel on Broadway. On Wednesday night a farewell entertainment was given the pugilists at Platt's, and all the sporting men were present. Speeches were made and toasts responded to in the usual fashion. The men will make a tour through England, giving exhibitions in all the principal cities, opening in the Raglan Hall, Liverpool, and closing in the London Alhambra, where Mace will appear in his "Grecian Statues," and Barney Aaron and Billy Edwards produce the play of "Dan Donnelly." All their engagements have been made in advance by cable telegraph.

THE HARLEM SWINDLE.

The Third and Ninth District Court-Houses—Commencement of the Investigation by the Senate Committee.

Yesterday afternoon the Committee appointed by the Senate to investigate the affairs of the Department of Buildings in this City, assembled at Harlem Hall, in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street, for the purpose of taking evidence in the different matters to come before them.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the Board, consisting of Senators Benedict, Tiemann and Weismann, convened. Hon. Daniel F. Tiemann presided. The proceedings opened by reading the following resolution passed by the Senate:

Whereas, It has been charged that gross frauds have been committed in the building of the Ninth District Court-house, in the City of New-York, and of the Third District Court-house, in the said City; be it therefore

Resolved, That a committee, consisting of Senators Tiemann, Benedict, and Weismann, be appointed, to investigate and inquire into the matter of the said frauds, and report back to this Board at the next session, with power for the said Committee to sit during the recess and compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of papers and records touching the said investigation, and that the said Committee be empowered to appoint a clerk, and summon to their aid the Sergeant-at-Arms.

After some discussion the Board decided that they should visit the site of the new Court-house in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth-street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, for the purpose of ascertaining what progress had been made in the construction of the intended building, and also what materials were found to be used, and lying upon the premises loose. This was agreed to, and they proceeded to inspect what little of the building could be seen. Senator Tiemann laughingly inquired for the carpets, oil-cloth, office furniture, &c., that were said to have been purchased, and which had been paid for as long ago as last year. No trace of them could be discovered, but said this gentleman, "We will find them or know the reason."

After making this view, the Committee decided to commence receiving documentary evidence today in the room of the Common Council, which was more convenient for the witnesses to attend.

It will be remembered that Wm. M. Tweed, Judge McQuade and Josiah Porter were appointed trustees for carrying out the building under the act of the Legislature of 1869, when an appropriation of $100,000 was set apart for its construction, and $23,000 for the purchase of the site, which in reality only cost $19,000. A further grant of $200,000 was made, and these two sums are said to have been expended upon the building. All that is to be seen for the money is that the foundation has been dug, part of the side walls are up one story high, and iron beams laid across the basement floor, and, according to the certificates sent in by other masons and builders, this work, together with the materials, could have been done for less than $40,000.

A bill was sent in to the Controller's office for 190 yards of oil-cloth at $1 75 per yard, signed by Harry W. Genet as being correct. Also bills for office desks, chairs, and other furniture, window-blinds and other fixings, which were also signed, it is said, by Mr. Genet, and paid. None of these articles were forthcoming, yesterday, in response to the Senators' inquiries. Much interest is manifested by up-town residents, and some spicy disclosures are anticipated.

Alleged Defalcation in the Mercantile Journal Company—Motion to Admit the Accused to Bail.

A motion was made yesterday, before Judge Leonard, in Supreme Court, Chambers, to discharge from arrest William Schotte, charged with forgery and embezzlement, in having, as alleged, indorsed checks of the Mercantile Journal Company, without authority. The motion was made on the grounds that the prisoner had given bail before Judge Cox, which had been approved by him, and was illegally detained by Judge Ledwith, who deemed the bail insufficient. It was contended by Mr. Wehle, for the accused, that Judge Ledwith's action was without precedent or legal warrant; that the complaints do not set forth upon their face facts sufficient to constitute a crime; that the checks were all signed by the prisoner in his own name, some of which were made payable to the "New-York Mercantile Journal," and others to the "New-York Mercantile Journal Company;" that the first, being made payable to a thing and not a person, are in law payable to bearer, while the latter, having been indorsed by the prisoner in his own name, at most his offense can be that of obtaining money under false pretenses, provided he represented himself as having authority, if he had not; and, in any event, Mr. Schotte claimed to have acted with full authority and knowledge of complainants.

Mr. Sullivan claimed that the check, being indorsed both with the name of the Company and the prisoner's, who was its manager, this constituted two distinct signatures, the first of which was a forgery, it being signed, as alleged by the complaint, without authority.

Judge Leonard, while intimating his belief that the papers were insufficient to hold the prisoner, said he would withhold his decision until Saturday to afford him time to look more carefully into the case.

Board of Aldermen.

The Aldermen assembled immediately after the adjournment of the Supervisors, John Cochrane, President, in the chair.

A petition was read from about forty property-owners asking for the repeal of the ordinance authorizing the paving of Thirty-seventh-street, between Seventh and Eleventh avenues, with Belgian trap-block pavement.

The ordinance has passed both Boards and has been signed by the Mayor.

Alderman Plunkitt made a motion in conformity with the request, but it was referred to the Committee on Streets for an early report.

Permission was granted to the proprietor of the circus in Fourteenth-street, opposite the Academy of Music, to occupy eight feet of the Court-yard for advertising purposes.

A number of reports from the Committee on Public Works were submitted, and during the process of their reading and disposition two of our City Fathers fell into the arms of Morpheus.

The Controller made the following report as to the disposal so far of the appropriation made for the conduct of the business of the Common Council for the year:

	Appropriation.	Payments.
Common Council	$20,000	$10,424 21
City contingencies	10,000	3,720 89
Legislative Department contingencies	20,000	238 10
Printing for Common Council	20,000	15,111 05
Salaries, legislative department	200,000	130,660 23
Total	$252,000	$143,215 48

No further business of public importance was done, and the Board adjourned at 2½ P. M. to Thursday next at 2 P. M.

Board of Supervisors—City Finances and Military Matters.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday by special call.

A bill of Simon Levi for Court services, $1,000, was referred to a committee. Permission was given to the National Board of Trade to use the Supervisors' room for their Conventions in October next. The weekly report of the Controller showed that of the $500,000 appropriated for carrying on the business of the County for this year, but $86,586 79 have been expended.

The Committee on Armories and Drill-rooms reported, recommending the lease of the second and third floors of a building in Broadway, between Forty-fourth-street and Forty fifth-street, for the term of two years, for the use of two regiments; the rent was fixed at $24,000 per annum. The report was adopted, and the Board adjourned.

Leasing the building has been deemed necessary, as the regiment at present in possession of Tammany Hall has received notice to quit it.

Death of Hon. R. H. Rousseau, of Kentucky.

From the Louisville True Democrat, Sept. 16.

On Saturday morning Hon. R. H. Rousseau died at his residence in the west end. He had been ill for some time, and his death was not surprising to many. His funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. He was born in Lincoln County, Kentucky, in February, 1815. While yet a boy, he and his lamented brother, Gen. Rousseau, came to Louisville, and for a time supported themselves by their daily labor. He subsequently went to Indiana and at one time taught school in Clark County. Returning to Louisville about 1845 or 1846, he studied law with Judge Pirtle, and commenced to practice in Greene County, Indiana. He was a member of the Indiana Legislature and arose to some distinction as a lawyer prior to 1853, when he and his brother came to this city and opened a law office. They soon acquired a large practice, and for a number of years no firm in Louisville did more business than Rousseau & Rousseau. Mr. Richard Rousseau attended more particularly to the Chancery Court business, and was regarded by his brethren of the Bar as one of the best practitioners in that Court. In 1865 he was appointed Minister of the United States to Honduras, and remained in office until 1869. His discharge of the duties of his position were in every respect satisfactory and honorable to the country and himself. In 1870 he resumed the practice of law in Louisville, and was regaining his business and reputation at the Bar when death terminated his career.

Important Customs Regulations.

The following important letter has been received at the New-York Custom-house. It will be seen that the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury, which was received by telegraph some time since, and announced exclusively in the columns of the TIMES, has undergone modification:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16, 1872.

SIR: Respectfully referring to the previous correspondence between this Department and your office, relative to the entry of goods under the Tariff act of June 6, 1872, which remained on shipboard unentered on the first day of August, when said act went into effect, I have to state that the papers in the case have been referred to the Solicitor of the Treasury for his opinion upon the question involved; and the Solicitor states that, as a matter of law, he considers that goods in port on the incoming of the first day of August, and not landed nor entered prior to that time, are not entitled to entry under said act, but must be charged with the rates of duty in force prior to the 1st of August.

The Department therefore decides that goods situated as before mentioned do not come within the operation of the eighth section of the act of June 6, 1872, and you are directed to adjust entries of such goods in accordance with the principles herein enunciated. Previous instructions which conflict herewith are hereby revoked.

I am, very respectfully,
WM. A. RICHARDSON, Acting Secretary.

"Kernan Beat Conkling."

Some of the Greeleyite papers in this State are trying to gain comfort for themselves in the boast that their candidate for Governor defeated Hon. Roscoe Conkling for Congress in the Oneida District. On that point the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser says: "But they do not tell the whole story—these demoralized man-haters. They shout 'Kernan beat Conkling!' but they forget to say that Conkling returned the compliment with interest. The facts are as follows: In 1862 Francis Kernan was elected to Congress over Roscoe Conkling by the bare majority of 98. Two years later, in 1864, the same champions contested the same field again, when Conkling beat Kernan by the splendid majority of 1,150! Two years later, in 1866, the people re-elected Conkling by a majority of 1,417, an increase of 267 over his former majority. The Oneida people judged the two Representatives by their records, and rewarded them accordingly."

SECOND CAMPAIGN SUPPLEMENT.

⁂ We beg to announce that we shall shortly publish the SECOND CAMPAIGN EDITION of the New-York Times. It will be a paper of great value and interest, containing many articles specially written for it, and a very large collection of SHORT QUOTATIONS from the best letters and speeches which have been published during the canvass. These selections will be pithy and full of point, and must prove of great service to clubs, speakers, and newspapers. They have been prepared with great care, and names and dates are carefully given in every case.

This edition will also contain a categorical refutation of the slanders against Gen. Grant, an account of Greeley's partnership with "Boss" Tweed, a summary of Greeley's Secession Record, a reply to the attacks upon Gen. Hartranft, Mr. Greeley's letters recommending bad men to office, an exposure of the Oakes Ames slander concocted by C. A. Dana and the managing editor of the Tribune—and Greeley's famous letter to Mr. Weed and Mr. Seward. There will also be some account of

as a Reformer.

The above is only an outline of the contents of this special supplement—the best campaign paper ever issued, and one which will be indispensable to Republicans throughout the country. Full particulars will be shortly published.

We printed and sold 275,000 copies of the first supplement, and they were circulated in every State of the Union. Of this edition we shall print at least an equal number.

Judge Bedford is making an active effort to secure a renomination by the agency of Greeley and Brown Clubs. It is to be deeply regretted, at this time, that any judicial officer should descend from the Bench to promote his personal interests by means of any one party, instead of endeavoring impartially to win the approval of honest men and good citizens of both parties. This is the feature of an elective Judiciary which has brought most discredit upon the system, and contributed most to make it a source of peril instead of protection to the public. We are sorry to see Judge Bedford countenancing it.

"Give us more such," said the Tribune in 1865 when Mr. Lyman Tremain was a candidate for the State Assembly. We hardly think that the wish will be repeated in regard to the imposing Republican rally of Wednesday night in the Cooper Institute, or the speech delivered by the Republican nominee for Representative at large. Mr. Tremain showed very conclusively that, had there been more of such "secessionists" as he in these Northern States, the war would have been triumphantly ended in two, instead of four, years. Mr. Greeley's secession record he proved to be as bad as that of Jeff. Davis; and altogether he administered a very conclusive quietus to the attacks which have been based upon reckless garbling of his speeches. The list of officers of the meeting, which we publish today, shows how desirous our best citizens are of ranging themselves on the side of the "good old cause."

Mr. Greeley's private organ has made haste to fulfill one prediction that, now that all the slanders afloat have been exposed, a new one would immediately be set going. This time it is in the White House that the mare's nest has been located, and the President's brother-in-law and Secretary has been corrupted for the enormous sum of one hundred dollars. Why not have made it twenty-five cents, and fixed the President's share at one half that sum? That would not have been any more ridiculous, and "the occurrences and disclosures of the last few months have prepared us for anything."

The remarks of the President of the Committee of Seventy at the reorganization of that body, yesterday, were equally just and appropriate to the political necessities of the City. The vigor with which the truth was enforced that we must have, above all, trustworthy representatives in the Assembly, cannot be too highly commended. There are unquestionably influences now at work to control the Assembly for corrupt ends, and unless the people are willing to be cheated out of the fruits of Reform, as they were last Winter, they should at once see that men of well-approved character and unmistakable ability are nominated in the Assembly districts.

The "truck and dicker" of the Democrats and Liberal Republicans is bringing the Greeley ticket to grief. It is conceivable that members of the two wings of the Greeley party should unite on one candidate for the Presidency, for no more than one man can be nominated for that office. But when a half dozen State officers are to be nominated, the number disappointed by any possible trade is far greater than the number pleased; and as place-hunters are the active force in the coalition, the coalition suffers accordingly. Heavy grumbling is already heard in Pennsylvania and Indiana, arising from this source.

"Military Rule and Arbitrary Government."

We are informed, with much exultation, by the Greeley organ, that Mr. Frederick Hassaurek, editor of the Cincinnati Volksblatt, has declared for Greeley, and "against Grant and military rule and arbitrary government." It has taken Mr. Hassaurek a long time to discover enough of these two objectionable qualities of Gen. Grant's Administration to make his present course seem necessary to him. He began the search in the early Spring, about the time Carl Schurz was shedding the light of his intellect on the same subject, preparatory to the Cincinnati Convention. It is fair to infer that if six months were required to determine Mr. Hassaurek's mind, the evils he has been contemplating cannot be very tremendous.

In point of fact, nothing could be more absurd than to appeal to the German citizens of America for Greeley against Grant on any such grounds as these. It is true that Germans in this country are devoted adherents to the supremacy of the civil over the military authorities, and the regulation of governmental action by strict construction of the laws. But they will not take the word of Messrs. Schurz and Hassaurek that the Administration has been unfaithful to these ideas. They will rather consult the facts and determine for themselves. If they do that, we have no fear of the Greeley party winning their votes.

Look for a moment at the record. The charge of "military rule and arbitrary government" must be based partly on the laws under which the Administration acts, partly on the way in which the laws have been observed. On neither of these grounds has Gen. Grant any reason to fear a rigorous examination. The only laws on which any such charge could rest are those for the enforcement of the Fourteenth Amendment. These Mr. Greeley, or Mr. Greeley's followers, cannot object to. They were vigorously advocated by Mr. Greeley himself. As late as June, 1871, after having made an extensive tour of observation in the South, and held frequent and confidential intercourse with the Southern leaders, Mr. Greeley declared that these laws were justified, and that if they were found not to be strong enough, he hoped they would be made stronger and stronger until they were. If a man's future is to be guided by the solemn declarations of the immediate past, Mr. Greeley can claim no confidence, no respect even, from the opponents of the Kuklux laws.

But, suppose Mr. Greeley is going to recant. Let us suppose that, following the indications thrown out in his personal organ, he is going to take the position that the laws are no longer needed, and so either favor their repeal, or substantially suspend them. Is that what the German-Americans want to see? Do they in reality regard the Kuklux laws as authorizing "military rule" in any objectionable sense? Those laws provide that when the equal rights for which Germans have fought so bravely in our common country are invaded, and the State Governments cannot, or will not, defend them, the President of the United States may maintain them, even with the use of the military. Is this a position our German fellow-citizens desire to have abandoned? Do they even wish to see the decision as to whether it shall be abandoned or not left to Horace Greeley and a Cabinet of Democrats?

If we consider the manner in which the President has obeyed the laws, we shall certainly find no ground for the charge of arbitrary government. There has been nothing arbitrary about it. There has been great directness, energy, and persistence. Offenders have neither been allowed to go unpunished, nor have they been encouraged by uncertain and vacillating administration of its laws. But with these qualities Gen. Grant has displayed also great—remarkably great—moderation and discreetness. The laws give him very extreme powers, extending over an immense area, but he has used them only in a few counties, and has preceded their use by ample warning. In these respects he has followed with striking closeness the illustrious example of Washington in the case of the whisky insurrection in Pennsylvania. If, in spite of the careful and judicious manner in which he has performed his delicate but urgent duty, he has been accused by ignorant and malicious critics of "arbitrary government," he has only, in that also, experienced the fortune of our great first President. Indeed, the violent aspersions visited on Gen. Grant are singularly like those which, at their respective periods, were cast on Washington, Jackson and Lincoln.

We have no doubt they will be equally ineffective. It is easier now than ever before for the people to discover the truth, and no portion of the people desire it more frankly, or are more capable of understanding it, than our German citizens.

We are confident, therefore, that neither Hassaurek nor Schurz will be able to mislead them.

The Tribune and the Ring Suits.

The Tribune never was distinguished for accurate knowledge of the affairs of New-York City. Ever since Mr. Greeley went up to Albany on behalf of the Union League Club, with instructions to oppose Tweed's charter, and came away like Balaam, leaving blessings, instead of the entirely different article he was sent to deliver, his paper has been prophesying smooth things in regard to our local Government, while the taxpayers were being plundered on a scale unexampled in the history of the country. The organ has started on a different tack lately, but as might be expected under the present management, it continues to make a more ridiculous display of ignorance about local affairs than ever.

Mr. Greeley's young man sets great store by the political influence of Tweed. So did his master for that matter, else he would hardly have gone into the tobacco business with him, and continued the partnership to the extent of helping him to levy black-mail upon their more reputable associates. But it appears that Mr. Greeley compromised himself to no purpose in this tobacco enterprise and the legal proceedings that constituted its single stroke of business. It was bad enough to have been disappointed in realizing that five thousand dollars' worth of shares, which he never paid for; it is, if possible worse to find that the "Boss" has proved so incapable of realizing the obligations due to former friendship, as to advise that select band of admirers who are left to him, not to vote for Greeley.

Accordingly, the Tribune raves against Tweed with an energy which it never displayed when he was impudently defying the public opinion of New-York, by clinging to a trust he had betrayed and a position he had foully disgraced. Now, as everybody but the Tribune knows, there are two separate classes of suits hanging over the heads of the Ring thieves. There are the civil suits instituted in the name of the people of the State, to recover the money which was filched from the County of New-York by certain members of the Interim Board of Audit. Then there are the criminal suits in pursuance of the indictments found by the Grand Jury. The organ having got these two things hopelessly muddled—as its manner is—calls upon Attorney-General Barlow to explain why September is slipping away without Tweed—not Sweeny or Hall, remember—being brought to trial. Mr. Peckham tries to get an idea into the head of Fenton's Professor, but is rewarded for his pains after this fashion: "Oh ho! You speak about October; Mr. Barlow said September. Tweed may be tried at this rate, but we don't believe it." What Mr. Barlow did say was this: "The civil suits will, no doubt, be decided in the latter part of September, and even if the cases go to the Court of Appeals on the demurrer, they ought to be tried on the merits before the close of the year. The criminal proceedings have not been brought to trial, for the simple reason that they are all (with the exception of Mayor Hall's case) in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. By the assignment of Judges last Fall, all the terms of this Court prior to October were to be held by Judges Barnard and Cardozo."

Observe that the organ first mixes up the civil and criminal suits, then it reveals a deeper depth of its ignorance on local affairs by howling about a trial in September, when neither the Oyer and Terminer or any other Court of this judicial district is held in September. Judge Brady presides over the October Oyer and Terminer, and the case of Tweed will certainly be brought before him, as also those of other Ring thieves, about whom the Tribune finds it convenient to hold its tongue.

Travelers' Woes.

Since the days of Ulysses, seeing the ways and cities of different lands has been one of the favorite diversions of pleasure-seeking humanity. But the patient Thracian traveled under auspices much more favorable than is the lot of the modern tourist. He had no wife or children to look after; he was not embarrassed with the care of multitudinous trunks, each of them, if lost, more valuable than all the rest; he had no anxieties about clean linen; he was harassed by no malignant Dodd. Now-a-days, "touring" is a very different thing from what it was in the old times, when a tunic and a pair of sandals made a sufficient outfit for an excursion round the world, and Penelope was more than content to stay at home and look after the children and her spinning.

It is the baggage, as every one knows, that makes the great evil and drawback of modern traveling. And all the comfort-seeking appliances of civilization have as yet apparently compassed no satisfactory plan for either dispensing with baggage in traveling, or for taking proper care of it. No lady, of course, can move a hundred miles from home without at least a dozen trunks, and few gentlemen with less than one or two. And every day the facilities for losing these precious impedimenta seem really to become more perfect. The present, at least, appears to be an unusually bad season for tourists. Everywhere, from German spa or New-England sea-shore, the same wail goes up for lost or stolen baggage. While travelers hereabouts are exhausting the vocabulary of complaint and invective against Dodd, the tourist's evil genius, betrayer of wardrobes, devourer of clean linen, and general enemy of domestic comfort, travelers abroad are filling the air and the columns of every accessible newspaper with the most heart-rending groans for ravished portmanteus. And their case is even more pitiable than that of our domestic victims, since here there is luckily but one Dodd, while there a Dodd is found in every railway porter and baggage-master from Havre to Naples. In other words, if all the Jeremiads of the continental tourist are to be believed, the delays and extortions and manifold outrages which are here the sole work of one malevolent and evil-working monster, are there freely perpetrated by all the railway companies and their employes. So frequent, indeed, have such robberies become on the Belgian railways, that the King of that country has graciously promised to look into the matter, and if possible—the good monarch is cautious—to put an end to it.

On the other hand, it is intimated that many of the troubles of continental travelers arise from stupidity or carelessness, or defective knowledge of the various European languages. Without doubt, too, the system of checking baggage on many European roads is by no means so complete as with us. Yet, making all due allowances for imperfection or negligence on one side, and impatience or carelessness on the other, it is probable that in most cases where baggage is lost or mislaid there is a little blame on both sides. And, though the advice may come a trifle late for this season, it will keep till the next—all tourists will find their profit in imitating at least the patience of the much-traveled King of Ithaca, if they cannot rival the lightness of his marching order.

The Cost of the Table.

The original and, until recent days, the generally accepted meaning of the word "meat" is simply food. This is apparent, for example, in the proverb, "What is one man's meat is another man's poison," and in the sign, "Horse meat and man's meat," which disappeared from wayside inns only within the memory of the last generation. The change in the meaning of the word would seem to indicate a general conclusion that flesh is the most important article of man's diet, and so is par excellence meat or food. If so, this conclusion itself has been not without its effect in the advance of the price of this article of food; and it also indicates a change in customary diet, which we venture to say is not entirely beneficial. In particular does this last remark apply to our own country. There is no civilized country in the world in which so much meat is eaten, or in which so much is wasted by bad cooking, by profusion, and by absolute unthrift as there is in this country.

Whether this meat-eating is beneficial seems to be more than doubtful. Are our men or our women stronger, healthier, larger-limbed, ruddier and fairer than Europeans of corresponding occupations and habits of life? The Irish girls who come out here, and go into domestic service, come generally with rosy cheeks and full figures. They probably have not eaten fresh meat once a week in their lives, in many cases not oftener than once a month. Once here, they rush ravenously at the joints, the steaks, and the chops, which are to them luxuries and the great signs of luxurious living. The result is almost invariably that they lose the figures and the rosy cheeks and the health that they brought with them, and that came with, if not of, a diet of potatoes and buttermilk. The more observant of them have already begun to notice this themselves. And in the second generation the change is very manifest. There is rarely a paler and thinner creature than your Irish girl of the second generation. In brief, we all of us here eat too much meat—too much for our health, probably, and certainly too much for the well-being of our pockets. Great, brawny Scotchmen live month after month on oat-meal and buttermilk and a little whisky, and a healthier, harder-working class of men it would be difficult to find. Why must we be every day be eating flesh and fat? In particular, why should our women and children be, like Sir Andrew Aguecheek, such great eaters of beef? Among our more comfortably-situated classes, it is safe to say that they eat meat twice a day. There is no need of this; and more, it is not wholesome. Women, who are not hard-workers, and children are much more healthy upon a lighter and less concentrated diet. Children until they reach their teens do not really need meat at all, and are the better in health and in looks for not having it.

In countries where the science of living is better understood than it is with us, they live, even among the wealthier classes, upon bread, and porridge, and milk, and fruit. The boy who may be seen at American hotels and boarding-houses, making his breakfast of beefsteak, ham and eggs, and broiled fish, all of them at once before him, and eaten in alternate bits, is unknown in Europe, where he would have his oat-meal porridge or his bread and milk. There is nothing more certain in regard to this subject than that our consumption of meat, particularly by women and children, is needless and unwholesome.

But if this be true, what shall be said of our extravagance in our use of this same most costly article of food? We are profuse in our provision; but in our use we are viciously wasteful. We all want to have the most costly cuts, and we all cook our meat in the most wasteful way, and we all waste—that is throw away and allow to spoil, that which would support a poor family in France. To get a joint or a steak, and then to roast or broil—say, rather, to bake or fry—it at a range or a cooking-stove, is the sum total of our general knowledge of cooking. The meat is wasted and spoiled in the cooking, by which its bulk and its nourishing properties are diminished; it is wasted in the eating, and what remains is also too often wasted, when it is not filched by servants for the tables of their "mothers" and their "cousins." And for this destruction of good and costly food, the neglect of personal supervision on the part of housekeepers is mainly accountable. Much of it is due also to the absolute ignorance of the younger housekeepers, who ave learned nothing, and have wished, and now wish, to learn nothing of the proper direction of a kitchen.

These, then, are prominent among the causes of the difficulty which householders of moderate means find in providing for their tables: an unnecessary consumption of the costliest, and not the healthiest article of food: a wasteful and injurious cooking of it; and a lack of watchfulness over the kitchen and the meat-safe on the part of housekeepers. If men and women who feel this difficulty will but have the courage to face the risk of being called mean, and will diminish their consumption of meat, and regulate it well, they will do much to relieve themselves; they will gain in health as well as in comfort, and in doing so they will, by diminishing an unreasonable and extravagant demand, do something to reduce the price of meat, and diminish in two ways their own butcher's bills.

"Sunset" Cox.

Mr. S. S. Cox is the Liberal Republican candidate for Congressman at large from the great State of New-York. The other day, when he was nominated, the Tribune said of him:

> "Mr. Cox has established, by his brilliant and meritorious service as Congressmen from this City, his right to represent the entire Commonwealth in the same place."

Will the Tribune tell us precisely what the "brilliant and meritorious service" was by which he established this "right?" Was it by that conduct of which the Tribune said on Feb. 11, 1870:

> "Gen. Butler and Mr. Samuel Cox had the advantage in the contest in blackguardism on the floor of the House."

Was it by the possession of these qualities which led the Tribune to say, on May 28 of the same year:

> "Other districts may at times have had Representatives so lately arrived among them as to know nothing of their history, condition or wants, but none ever had one who could add Mr. Samuel Cox's pretension to Mr. Samuel Cox's ignorance."

Or was it by his course last Fall, when, in the language of the same paper, he "deliberately cast in his lot with the thieves?" The Tribune said of him, as late as Nov. 1, 1871:

> "Mr. Samuel S. Cox, our carpet-bag Representative in Congress, has deliberately chosen, in full view of the astounding developments of the last six months, to cast in his lot with the thieves. He was elected to the nominating Convention whereof 'Boss' Tweed was the inspiring genius, attended and presided over its deliberations and addressed it in language of fraternity and sympathy. Whatever of character or consequence he may have, he, therefore, gives to the support and vindication of the villains who have stolen this City poor. Nor did this suffice. Mr. Cox attended and fully fraternized with the meeting which ratified the nomination of Mike Norton for Senator. This Mike has for four years enjoyed the honors and (bounteous) emoluments of a Senator simply by virtue of his eminence as a 'boss' repeater. Nothing else than his ability to poll more votes from fewer voters than any other man in his district ever made him a Senator; nothing else than this pre-eminence in infamy as a corruptor of the ballot-box now keeps him afloat."

Does the Tribune suppose that the people of this State are going to elect to represent them in Congress one who vindicates his right on the floor of Congress to be called the champion blackguard, one who pre-eminently unites pretension with ignorance, and who, in the midst of the reform movement of last Fall, "deliberately chose to cast in his lot with the thieves," and who "gave to the support and vindication of the villains who have stolen this City poor" whatever of character or consequence he may have? We imagine that Mr. Cox must denounce the corruption of the National Administration a good while before he will accomplish his election. Perhaps in the speeches which he is about to make in the central portion of the State, he will introduce himself by quoting Mr. Greeley's flattering opinion.

The Critics of Cricket.

Doctor Johnson decidedly disapproved of open-air sports. The man who trusted himself on board a yacht showed, in the Doctor's opinion, the want of taste and intelligence which would naturally characterize a person who should voluntarily undergo close imprisonment, complicated with imminent risk of death by drowning. Fishing was defined by the great lexicographer to mean a worm at one end of the rod and a fool at the other, and as for grouse-shooting and cricketing, the fact that Boswell does not record any Johnsonian anathema launched against them may be interpreted as a proof that Doctor Johnson was exasperated to the point of silence by the mere thought of such laborious follies.

But allowances may be made for Johnson's dislike of athletic and out-door diversions. At the period of his greatest fame, when Boswell waited for his slightest word, he was notoriously afflicted with gout. There can be no doubt whatever that gout is an occupation which demands sedulous attention, and no man has yet been able to combine it successfully with the more active amusements of shooting, fishing, or ball-playing. Then, too, the Doctor had saturated his tissues by inordinate indulgence in tea, and hence could not conceive of the muscular pleasures which the normal man, uncontaminated by tea, finds in feats of strength and daring.

Some fifteen years ago there seemed to be a fair probability that cricket would become a favorite game on this side of the Atlantic. Numerous cricket clubs had been formed, and even the small boy was beginning to purloin billiard-cues and walking-sticks, wherewith to erect wickets in frequented thoroughfares, and assault the public with bat and ball under the pretense of practicing cricket. The "sporting men," however, soon found fault with cricket, on the ground that it was too slow a game on which to bet with pleasure and profit, and the athletic persons who ought to have clung to it, betrayed its interests in favor of base-ball, and pretended that cricket was a laborious and dangerous game.

Now to the prosaic person, who prefers inglorious ease to manly exercise, it is probable that cricket does present itself as a hazardous and difficult sport. To such the batsman is simply a weak-minded victim, who is forced to defend himself as best he may against the savage assaults of the bowler; while the mail-clad wicket-keeper risks the integrity of his finger-nails and the safety of his ribs, without even the poor reward of temporary glory that attaches to the batsman. The length of a well-contested game is regarded by the enemy of cricket as bearing no possible likeness to the linked sweetness long drawn out of which mention is frequently made, but is looked upon simply as a painful prolongation of the suspense in which the side condemned to play its inning is kept while each incursive victim is summoned to the bat. Long, laborious and dangerous is the verdict which these maligners of cricket pronounce upon that peerless game.

Cricket is undoubtedly a laborious sport, but it is less wearisome than a day's tramp with gun and dogs, or a run with the salmon down a wild and rocky stream. It is not easy of absolute mastery, but neither is whist or any of the nobler sciences. A game which taxes neither muscle nor mind, and which never demands the close attention and cool nerves which every really manly sport does demand, is unworthy of the attention of men, however pleasant it may seem to boys and girls. We hope that cricket will be cultivated until our players learn to hold their own against "cracks" from abroad. We must confess that the so-called "match" played here this week turned out a very sorry farce. Yesterday the English eleven, not wishing to play again on Friday, simply tried to get themselves out as fast as they could, and then quietly shut up the twenty-two local players for forty-four runs! The two batsmen who went in on Wednesday could easily have beaten the twenty-two of the St. George Club. They stayed in as long as they liked, and then to save themselves playing on Friday, gave easy catches and beat their opponents in one inning. We hope the Philadelphia players will give a better account of Mr. Grace and his friends.

MINOR TOPICS.

On Wednesday M. Thiers shot his usual morning Communists to the number of three, and subsequently sent eight hundred and eighty more to New-Caledonia. It is remarkable how much a man can accomplish by industry and devotion to business. When M. Thiers first entered upon the work of ridding France of Communists, he had more than twenty thousand of them in his prisons. Persons ignorant of his unwearied capacity for labor, supposed that after shooting and exiling a few score, he would be compelled to release the rest of his prisoners. Such, however, has not been the case. No young and enthusiastic sportsman, with free permission to shoot over the best preserves of Scotland, could have manifested more thorough devotion to grouse than M. Thiers has shown in shooting Communists. In addition, he has deported men and women to unhealthy penal colonies with a steady perseverance that knows no flagging. If he continues in this work, the French political police will find their occupation gone, unless, by the passage of game laws, the Assembly should preserve a few Communists for the especial benefit of the Parisian detectives.

Among those shallow persons who fancy that flings at New-Jersey are intrinsically and necessarily witty, it was formerly the fashion to allude to the chills and fever as the national sport of the Jerseyman. No one doubts that New-Jersey keeps a full supply of that unwelcome means of involuntary athletic exercise constantly on hand, but no one who studies sanitary statistics will admit that New-Jersey is entitled to any pre-eminence in malaria over other suburbs of this City. The Staten Islander shakes, the Westchester County person shivers, and the Long Island resident suffers with as severe a type of malarious fever as even the Hackensack Valley can produce; and during the present Fall the East side of this City has been notably afflicted with the same unwelcome guest. The evil is, of course, due to insufficient drainage, but when the soil consists, as it does in many parts of Long and Staten Islands, of sand resting on a bed of clay impermeable to water, thorough drainage is nearly impossible. The pseudo draining of salt-marshes, which consists in shutting out the tide-water, and so converting them into fresh-water reservoirs, has, moreover, had the effect of increasing the malaria wherever it has been tried.

Temperance is unquestionably a good thing, unless it is carried to the point of intolerant asceticism. It cannot be said, however, that the typical temperance advocate, who understands the word "temperance" to mean only total abstinence from wine and liquor, is always distinguished by the practice of temperance in other matters. As a case in point, we may take the treatment which "Tom" Hughes underwent, the other day, at the hands of temperance people. He was addressing a meeting of his constituents, and inasmuch as the total-abstainers suspect of him of beer—or, at all events, of a reluctance to class beer by the side of strychnine as a deadly and rapid poison—they bore their testimony against the deep depravity of his views by creating a riot, which the police were called upon to quell. Why people who are manifestly grossly intemperate in the use of chairs, balusters, and fists as weapons of riot, should call themselves pre-eminently temperance men merely because they dislike beer, is not clear to the ordinary mind. Neither, in all probability, would it be to St. Paul, who recommended moderation in all things, and evidently did not hold that the whole duty of man is comprehended in abstinence from beer.

Five hundred Mormons arrived here the other day from Europe, and have been whiling away the hours of their stay in this Gentile City by holding Mormon meetings in Castle Garden. As they are a quiet people in their religious exercises, and, unlike certain other heretics, do not make it a point that "brethren should yell together in unity," their meetings give no one any particular offence, save as they are a vivid proof of the religious delusion under which these ignorant people labor. It is by no means a matter of surprise that the Mormon missionaries should meet with some degree of success in making proselytes among the ignorant Scandinavian peasantry. To the men, the missionary offers the prospect of a farm and numerous wives to work it, while the women by no means object to an arrangement by which their labors shall be shared with additional wives. The religious aspect of the matter has very little influence with these people, and they would, with equal indifference, embrace Buddhism or Brahminism, did either promise its converts farms and cattle.

Somebody insists that a "Professorship of Practical Agriculture" should be established in the College of the City of New-York—formerly known as the Free Academy. It is very easy to establish the Professorship, but will some one please to explain how the students are to study practical agriculture, without digging up the back yards of their respective houses, and thereby incurring the wrath of the cook and chamber-maid, who will thus be prevented from bleaching their private linen in the grass? The destruction of the back yard is the only possible way in which the student of a city college can practically study agriculture, and it is doubtful whether the end will justify the means. Suppose he puts in practice the theory of the rotation of crops, raising two potatoes one year, two stalks of corn another, a handful of oats the third, and a square yard of grass the fourth year. This is as much as the small area of his back-yard farm will permit him to accomplish, and no one, except H. G., will assert that the accidental success or failure of such homœopathic crops will afford sufficient data for confirming or upsetting agricultural theories.

INDIANA.

Increasing Strength of the Republicans—Precise Strength of the Sorehead Element in the State—The Straight Democratic Convention—A Ticket Nominated.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 19.—Advices from all parts of the State are still favorable, and indicate that the Greeleyites have no solid foundation for the hopes with which they are now deluding themselves. It has been ascertained that there is a rumor among them that Hon. M. C. Kerr succeeded in getting $40,000 in the East, and this is supposed to be the ground of the renewed confidence among them remarked yesterday. This rumor is as baseless as all their visions to a great extent, but it is certain they have more money now than at any time during the campaign, and it is certain they will use what they have with usual unscrupulousness. But they have not enough to do any great damage. It is very evident from the reports constantly received from all parts of the State that the tide is against the mongrels, and no fears are entertained that it will not continue so to the end.

As an indication of the public sentiment it can be said that the polling of the State so far as completed, shows a decided increase in the Republican strength, and as decided a decrease in Democratic numbers. It is not proper to give the exact figures on these points, but it is allowable to say that twenty-two counties furnish just 696 Republicans who have gone over to Greeley, and this indicates that there are only about 3,000 of them in the entire State, whereas the Greeleyites have always claimed 10,000, and the Republicans have allowed 5,000. Cheered by the recent successes and the revelation of their strength, and determined that a decisive victory shall be won over the mongrels, the Republicans are actively at work and will spare no effort to make their triumph as decisive as possible.

The Convention of Straight Democrats met in the Senate Chamber at 2 P. M. today. About fifty delegates were present from various portions of the State. Dr. W. P. Sherrod, of Orange, was elected President, and upon taking the chair said they had assembled to reorganize and rebaptize the Democratic Party of Indiana, but as they were intent on deeds and not words, he would not make a speech. Mr. McDonald, of Cass County, was appointed Secretary, when, on motion of W. C. Moreau, a Committee of five was named to report candidates for the State ticket, and Electors for the State at large. When this Committee retired another was appointed to name a Central Committee, which reported as follows: W. C. Moreau, W. P. Sherrod, W. H. Hunter, James Millison, A. G. Dennis, Thomas Brannon, A. Parsons, P. G. Foster, and James McConnell. These were empowered by a vote of the Convention to fill vacancies in their body, and to nominate District Presidential Electors. Mr. Moreau, remarking that platforms had been the wreck of the Democratic Party, offered the following, which was adopted:

> Resolved, That we heartily indorse the position taken by our candidates for President and Vice-President, and commend them to the Democrats of Indiana for their energetic support.

At this point a resolution was offered by a delegate, whose name was not heard, that the Convention would support the candidates nominated June 12, meaning the Hendricks ticket, but it was ruled out of order, as the Convention had appointed a committee to nominate candidates. As a further proof of their earnestness in this direction, Col. Brandon, Major Moreau and Mr. Pimber were appointed a committee to prepare an address to the Democrats of the State.

After some delay the Committee reported the following State ticket:

Governor—Alfred P. Edgarton.
Lieutenant Governor—Green Dunham Ripley.
Congressmen at Large—W. C. Moreau, W. F. Sherrod.
Secretary of State—Alfred Parsons.
Auditor—Otto Boettcher.
Treasurer—Dr. McBride.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—James G. Smith.
Attorney-General—Thomas Brannon.
Clerk of the Supreme Court—A. G. Dennis.
Reporter of the Supreme Court—T. G. Wanesbe.
Electors—G. N. Fitch, Charles Rives, T. J. Foster and James Millison.

This ticket was unanimously adopted, and the Convention then adjourned to meet in the evening, to hear addresses from several of the unpurchasable Democracy. The names on the ticket are those of life-long Democrats, who are well known to the people of the State, and some of whom have heretofore received marks of public confidence. Edgarton, who heads the ticket, was formerly a member of Congress, and is a man of high character and great ability. Fitch, Elector at large, was once United States Senator, and is well known to the whole country.

The delegates to the Convention announced in private conversation that their movement is no farce, but that they intend to have every voting-place in the State supplied with their tickets, and to spare no efforts to secure it all possible support.

The Greeleyites are so concerned about these nominations that pressure is already being brought to bear upon the candidates to induce them to decline, especially upon Edgerton. But these efforts, it is believed, will not be successful. To-night the Straights had a large meeting here in Masonic Hall. Several hundred were present and vigorously applauded the denunciation of the sale to Greeley which were uttered by the speakers. Hendricks, too, came in for marks of the popular detestation, as one who had bartered principles for the hope of spoils.

Judging from surface indications, the straight movement in Indiana at least has considerable power.

OBITUARY.

Charles XV., King of Sweden.

After an uneventful reign of thirteen years, Charles Louis Eugene, King of Sweden and Norway, died on Wednesday night, at Stockholm, one of the capitals of his dominions. The deceased monarch was born May 3, 1826, and succeeded his father, Oscar I., on the death of the latter in July, 1859. Previous to his ascension, he married a Princess of Orange, the daughter of William Frederick, of the distinguished line of Nassau. Three years since, the only child born to this marriage was united to the Prince Royal of Denmark, brother of the Princess of Wales.

Charles XV. will be succeeded by his brother, Oscar Frederick, who will thus reign under the title of Oscar II. The reign of the late King has been as peaceful and uneventful as that of most of the modern rulers of the quiet and industrious people of Norway and Sweden.

TAMMANY'S TROUBLE.

A Very Stormy Session of the Braves Last Night.

Anti-Tammanyites Resisting its Power—Plain Talk from a few Venturesome Spirits—What is Going to be Done About It.

The work of the Smelling Committee, appointed by the Tammany Hall Committee on Organization, on Wednesday last, has created a sensation among the members of that so often regenerated, reorganized and repurified organization. Many of them do not know where they "stand," things are so muddled. A Grant and Wilson, Dix and O'Brien epidemic is known to be raging and the chiefs of the tribe are extremely fearful of the general health of their body politic. The most extreme measures have been deemed necessary. Men who have hitherto been thought to be tied to the apron-strings of Mother Tammany are wandering about and advocating those opposed to her rule in the most audacious manner. The report of Tammany's troubles in yesterday's TIMES was but a feeble picture of the lamentable situation of affairs.

MEETING OF THE TAMMANY GENERAL COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the Tammany General Committee was held last evening, to hear the report of the Committee on Organization upon the dissensions existing in the party; to again formally ratify the nominations at Baltimore, and act upon other matters relating to the welfare of the organization. John W. Chandler presided. Among the prominent members of the Committee who answered at roll call were John Kelley, Jack Doland, E. Burke, Moses Jacobs, John Tubbs, Augustus Schell, Tim Brennan, Wm. Hughes, Jim Hayes, with a crowd of "heelers;" John Fitzpatrick, Morris Scanlon, Dennis Burns, Martin L. Keese, John Mulholland, Owen Cavanagh, Chas. M. Clancey, Ed. J. Shandley, Wm. J. Shandley, Jas. Bagley, Jacob F. Valentine, James Boyle, H. A. Gumbleton, Jacob Seebacher, Michael Maloney, John Hampson, John Scott, Warden Tracey, Myer Myer, James E. Coulter, James A. Flack, —— Fitzgibbons, Gen. Spinola, Forbes Holland, John Galvin, Owen Moran, Theodore Mierson, Mike Tuomey, Henry Genet and Wm. A. Walsh. To Mike Norton's name there was no response. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Anthony Eickoff, one of the longest series of resolutions ever concocted was read by Mr. Ed. Plum for the edification of the assembly. Everybody looked bored before the long-winded document was half read, and seemed anxious to arrive at the more interesting business of the meeting. The resolutions were nine in number. They hailed the uprising of the people in favor of reform with enthusiasm as evincing a union of citizens of all parties to throw off the weight of misgovernment and restore purity to the administration of affairs in the country; that all past prejudices were to be sacrificed. The national Administration is stigmatised as being everything that is bad, and all the stereotyped charges against it were rehearsed. The Republican Party was then condemned in the same terms, and charged with being false to its pledges in this State. Equality of all under the law, without distinction of birth, race or creed, was then enunciated as a cardinal principle of the Democratic Party, and Greeley and Brown, the Cincinnati and Baltimore platforms, Kernan and Depew, Sunset Cox and the entire State ticket came in for elaborate indorsement.

Communications were then received relative to vacancies caused by the decease of several members of the General Committee. They were referred to the Committee on Organization for action. The report of the Committee on Organization relative to dissensions in the party was then read. It is as follows:

To the Democratic Republican General Committee, Tammany Hall:

GENTLEMEN: The Committee on Organization appointed a committee on the 17th inst., to investigate as to the efficiency and general condition of various Assembly districts in this City as represented in your General Committee, respectfully report the following:

That your Committee held a session at Tammany Hall, on the afternoon of the 18th inst., and summoned to appear before them at that time, representatives of the General Committee from the following districts, viz.: Third, Fourth, Eighth, Ninth and Seventeenth; that statements were called for from the respective delegates, and such questions put as your Committee deemed suitable and most likely to elicit the truth; and after a thorough examination your committee came to the following conclusions, which, in brief, they respectfully recommend for your action:

Third District—We recommend that the Third District be and is hereby instructed to organize and unite, and that both the gentlemen now representing the district in the Committee on Organization, be requested to withdraw, and that they are hereby directed to send only one representative from that District to said Committee.

Fourth District—We recommend that the seats of Messrs. Patrick H. Keenan, Bryan Reilly and John Ford be declared vacant, and that the Chairman of the Committee on Organization appoint a Committee of five to reorganize all disaffected districts as contained in this report.

Eighth and Seventeenth Districts—Your Committee have heard statements from the Eighth and Seventeenth Districts, but, as yet, the testimony is not sufficiently explicit to warrant them in arriving at a definite conclusion.

Your Committee further recommend that the seats of John Houghtaling, from the Ninth District, and John S. Masterson and William B. Farley, from the Seventeenth District, be declared vacant.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 19, 1872.

The presentation of this report gave rise to much warm debate, and at one time no little excitement, the question being upon its adoption. A delegate from the Second District moved an amendment of the report.

Mr. John Kelly said that he did not propose to make any objections to the amendment of the gentleman. The Committee on Organization may have been in error. Gentlemen belonging to the Committee should resign if they are not in accord with the organization. If any one should choose to belong to the Committee and act in an unprincipled way, he should be expelled. If there were gentlemen in the Committee who would not support Greeley and Brown there was power enough in the Committee to expel them.

Mr. Brady said that his two colleagues in the Seventeenth District were two of the strongest men in that district. They were in favor of Greeley and Brown, he knew, and were energetic and zealous.

Mr. Galvin moved to amend the amendment, so that that part of the report relating to the Fourth District might be sent back to the Committee on Organization.

Ex-Alderman Reilly was for Greeley and Brown, and Mr. Ford was zealous in the same cause. Judge Shandley was to blame that there were no meetings in the Seventh Ward—he was Chairman of the Assembly Committee. He was opposed to men being ostracised from the Committee on account of the Mayoralty question. If James O'Brien did not get the Tammany Hall nomination, then those who supported him could resign. It was no time to raise the question now. The members had a right to their preferences before a nomination was made.

Mr. Wm. Walsh, of the Smelling Committee, endeavored to make an explanation of its work. Great confusion ensued. There were cries from all parts of the house to the Chairman, who with difficulty restored order. Mr. Schell endeavored to say something, but was evidently laboring under a misapprehension of the question at issue, and finally sat down upon its becoming clearly explained to him.

Judge Shandley rose to explain that the reason he did not call meetings in the Fourth District was because there was a stronger influence than his to work there.

Mr. Walsh said that the Fourth District needed an earnest overhauling. It was well known, [referring to Tweed,] who was the ruling power there. It was the former dictator who had made the name of Democracy a byeword and a reproach throughout the country.

On motion of Mr. Kelly, that part of the report referring to the Fourth District, was referred back to the Committee on Organization. The remainder of the report was adopted. Judge Spencer then reported on the progress of the Naturalization Committee, and the meeting adjourned. The two members of the Committee on Organization from the Third District requested to withdraw are James Gibbons and James Hayes. Hayes, it is said, will not be returned to the Committee.

ERIE RAILWAY CHANGES.

Important Movements in the Company—General Orders by the New Officers.

The movements of the new officers of the Erie Railway have caused much agitation among the employes of the road.

The first general order recently issued by the new President, Mr. Watson, makes radical changes in the actual operation of the road.

The following is a copy of the official appointments:

GENERAL ORDER NO. 1.—The maintenance and operation of this road is hereby placed under the supervision of the Vice-President, Mr. Diven, and is divided into the following departments, to wit:

The Department of Transportation.
The Department of Road.
The Department of Rolling Stock.

Subject to the approval of the President, the Vice-President shall appoint the Superintendents and make the rules and regulations for the government of these departments. P. H. WATSON, President.

A subsequent order from the Vice-President appoints Robert M. Brown superintendent of road, with full charge of the track, bridges, buildings, docks and wharfs and everything pertaining to the road, fixing the head quarters at New-York, and allowing him one assistant. It also appoints Harnden D. V. Pratt, of Elmira, formerly division superintendent, as superintendent of transportation, who has charge of the movement of cars, locomotives, passengers and freights, with the responsibility of safe and expeditious transit. Myron E. Brown, of Buffalo, is appointed superintendent of rolling stock, having full charge of locomotives and cars and the Company's repair shops.

This arrangement has been contemplated by the managers of Erie for some time, it being understood about a month ago that Mr. Diven, as Vice-President and general manager, would have charge of the operation of the road, the same as its former superintendent.

It is thought that by this subdivision of labor the working of the road will be managed cheaper and more expeditiously than heretofore.

THE BROOKLYN GREELEY MEETING.

The Academy of Music Meeting Last Evening—Speeches by Francis Kernan, Chauncey M. Depew, Judge Reynolds and Others.

The Greeley mass-meeting at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, was a large one. The building was filled with the good Irish Democrats of the City of Churches. The adherents of the Ring were there in full force, and their presence was made known beyond a doubt by the burst of applause which greeted any denunciation of the Republican Party. On the platform were Hon. F. Kernan, candidate for Governor; Gen. Kilpatrick, Mr. Kinsella, Ex-Judge Reynolds, Messrs. De Witt, W. W. Goodrich and others, Coroner Whitehall, Col. Willis, Ex-Judge Birdseye and a number of Ring magnates. Besides these were many persons unknown to public fame or infamy, who doubtless were brought in to swell the importance of the meeting by a crowded rostrum. The stage, fully open in a forest scene, was lit up in the flies and draped with flags of America and Germany. Mr. W. W. Goodrich called the meeting to order, saying that he had had the honor of having done the same when the reform movement swept the city. Now, as then, the object is reform—national reform—the head of which is Honest Horace Greeley. Hereupon a number of persons here and there throughout the audience arose and began to sing a campaign song to the tune "America;" of course the audience joined in. Judge Reynolds was then unanimously called to the chair. He said that the present Administration had signally failed to fulfill the promises under which it had entered upon its office. From the day that Gen. Grant had taken possession of the White House, the course of the Government has been marked by corruption and robbery. The present coalition party sprang from the necessities of the hour, and had laid down for its platform the high sentiments of reform in the State, and reconciliation and reunion with the South. The Chairman then read a long list of Vice-Presidents.

Ex-Alderman Van Brunt then read a series of resolutions indorsing Greeley, Brown, Kernan, Depew and Cox.

REMARKS OF HON. FRANCIS KERNAN.

Hon. Francis Kernan was then introduced. He began with the usual assertion of his and the other candidates' intention to overthrow the present Administration's corruption. He went on to say that the American people had just ground to complain of the way the laws have been administered for the last four years. When Gen. Grant came into power the Southern people had laid down their arms and had complied with all the conditions demanded of them. Slavery was abolished, the right of every man to exercise the franchise was universally conceded; they asked that they might be received back and be allowed to share in the privilege of citizenship. It was the duty of this Administration to see that their request be granted. Gen. Grant had himself reported to Mr. Lincoln that the South was impoverished, penitent and ready to accept the situation and redeem the past. When he came into power he failed to act upon his knowledge. He allowed a mere partisan policy to be inaugurated. He then, as at Tammany Hall, went off to New-Orleans to say hard things of Mr. Casey, and came back again to denounce the President and his corrupt Cabinet. In short, the whole of the speech was a tirade against the record of the Republican Party and its present candidates, telling the people why they should adopt any course to beat Grant.

Gen. Kilpatrick was the next speaker. He said that four years ago he had stood upon the platform he now trod to advocate the election of Ulysses S. Grant. He now sincerely regretted that speech, and was trying to atone for it to-night. The speaker then pitched into the Administration in the usual style, saying little that has not appeared in the Greeley organ, from which he quoted largely. He denounced everything and everybody connected with Gen. Grant.

Hon. Chauncey Depew, Joseph J. Stewart, Major Haggerty and others spoke until a late hour.

The Brooklyn Hall Meeting.

The meeting at the Brooklyn Hall was anything but well-attended, more than half the room being vacant, and a portion of the remainder occupied by men attired in white hats and capes. The meeting was organized by Gen. Slocum being selected as Chairman, who, after he had made a speech composed of the oft-refuted slanders, introduced Chauncey M. Depew, the candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. This speaker said that he had advocated the election of Gen. Grant four years ago because he thought that as a man of negative views he would have been able to allay all party strife and sectional bitterness. But after an experiment of four years he only saw a skeleton of dead issues, a centralization of power, and a decided despotism at Washington. These discoveries had driven the men who had heretofore been the backbone of the Republican Party away from it with disgust and loathing. Here he eulogized all those who had made political war on Gen. Grant's Administration, and, in sneering tones, pointed out those who had supported him. He declared the Cincinnati platform to be the second Declaration of Independence, which the delegates to Baltimore had been instructed to support, together with its nominees, as their only salvation. He alluded to the war, and said that all that had been fought for was crystalized, and he had no idea or desire to disturb it. He wanted now a general amnesty, so that the same rights which are enjoyed by all black men should be also enjoyed by all white men without regard to nationality or race. He made a long tirade on the carpet-baggers of the South, and reiterated the old worn-out slanders. He said the people of the South were thus subjected to persecution because they were true to their States, thereby reviving the dead issues of States rights and State sovereignty. He said the South recognized that there are two races in this country in direct antagonism, and all they asked was to be allowed to take care of their own rights and interests in their own way, and without the interference of the General Government. They asked for the old Jeffersonian form of government, which gave to the South the right to govern themselves. He then alluded to the civil service reform, and the threadbare story of Grant's relations. He said that the boasted civil service rules would be suspended in the cases of all office-holders, in accordance with the way they were working for the re-election of Grant, thus keeping in office dishonest men, and decapitating all who were honest in their convictions.

At this moment Francis Kernan ascended the platform, and, in return for the laudatory remarks of Chauncey M. Depew, began to praise the latter in a similar manner. He admitted that the title given him by Mr. Depew of being the next Governor of the State of New-York was anything but certain; but all he asked was that those who voted for him should also vote for Greeley, Brown and Depew. He said he and his party were fighting against corruption, and he hoped no petty jealousy would be allowed to interfere with their plan for the securing of justice before the law to citizens of every color and creed.

At the close of his remarks the band of white-caped listeners marched out of the hall in procession, leaving but few listeners to the colored orator of Democracy, W. U. Saunders.

The outside meetings were distinguished by the usual noise from bands, and the ill-timed shouts from disorderly boys engaged for the purpose but very badly disciplined. The speakers were of no particular note, but this did not much matter, as they were constantly disturbed by the movements of passing and repassing processions.

At Stand No. 1 S. Edmund Driggs presided, and David Maxwell, Col. Willis, Isaac Oliver, J. Williams, and J. F. Baker, spoke. At Stand No. 2 E. L. Sanderson presided, John C. Jacobs read the resolutions, and W. W. Mosely, Nelson Cross, Judge Gale, and Mr. Hoynes, of Wisconsin, made addresses. At the German Stand Col. Ed. Rohr presided, and Prof. Globenski, with others, spoke, but the interest manifested was so small that it closed early. Two banners were flung to the breeze, amid flights of colored flower-pots. This proved to be the most attractive part of the outside show.

An Alleged Homicide—A Child Killed by Being Struck on the Head with a Brick.

Stephen Quail, a child four years of age, died yesterday at his parents' residence, No. 512 East Fourteenth-street, from injuries received on the 7th inst. by being struck on the head by a brick, alleged to have been thrown from the roof of the house by Catharine McGuire, a woman who lives in the same premises. It is also alleged that Catharine threw the brick intentionally at the child, who was playing in the rear yard. The woman was arrested at the time, and has since been locked up at the Tombs awaiting the result of the injuries. Coroner Herrman has been notified, and will hold an inquest in the case.

OVATION TO THE PRESIDENT.

Immense Outpouring of Citizens Greeting Gen. Grant in New-Jersey—A Triumphal March.

President Grant arrived at Elizabeth, N. J., shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday, by a special train from Jersey City, on a visit to the exhibition grounds of the New-Jersey State Agricultural Society. Large crowds were gathered at the ferry and the depot, who cheered the President vigorously as he passed through them, those who were nearest insisting on shaking his hands. In the train with the President were Gen. Porter, Hon. Amos Clark, Jr., Judge Mitchell, Hon. Wm. McKinley and John A. Wilson, of Elizabeth, and Col. A. D. Hope, Elston Marsh and J. M. Clarke, of the New-Jersey Central Railroad. At Elizabeth nearly a thousand people assembled to greet the President, and they cheered him lustily as he stepped from the car. He was escorted to a carriage in waiting by Ex-Gov. Ward, men and women excitedly elbowing their way through the dense mass of humanity to catch a glimpse of their Chief Executive, or, it might be, to feel the grasp of his hand. The party then drove to the elegant residence of Mr. Clark, on the outskirts of Elizabeth. In the carriage with the President were Mayor Chetwood, Col. John Kean, and Hon. Amos Clark, Jr., a long train of vehicles following. As they turned into Broad-street the air rang again with cheers from an assemblage of gentlemen collected at that point. On arriving at Mr. Clark's villa there was met another gathering of prominent citizens, who were introduced to the President. Among them were J. D. Chapin, Mayor of Rahway; W. E. Wells, Charles H. Jackson, Uzal M. Osborne, of the Advocate and Times; Jonathan Woodruff, President of the Union National Bank; Councilman Jackson, Rev. Dr. Ligget, and a host of prominent citizens. The President left at 3 o'clock, and after a drive of fifteen minutes reached the Agricultural Society's grounds at Waverly. There he was received by Gen. Halstead, President of the Society, with whom were Senator Bettle, of Camden; Senator Wiley, of Union; Ex-Senator Veghte, of Somerset; Augustus F. Ball and Senator Coole, of Somerset; Ex-Governor Newell, of New-Jersey; Ex-Senator Anderson and about fifty other distinguished residents of the State. The scene on the grounds it would be difficult to give an adequate idea of. At the lowest calculation, 20,000 people were within the inclosure. Incredulous at first, at sight of the unassuming-looking man dressed in a plain suit of black, when the truth flashed upon them that it was really Gen. Grant, stentorian shouts of applause arose, and with tremendous volume rolled from point to point, as he drove on. There was a mass of down-turned faces on the grand stand, which was literally packed full of people, no standing-room whatever being obtainable. The President alighted here and went up into the judges' stand, opposite, from which a better view of the grounds could be obtained, and where he remained for a few minutes. He left the grounds shortly afterward for Newark, accompanied by Gov. Ward.

The serenade to President Grant and grand torchlight procession in honor of his visit to Newark was the largest and most enthusiastic demonstration of the kind ever witnessed in this city. At 8 o'clock he drove to the exhibition at the Rink, in which over eight thousand people had assembled, and as he was conducted through the aisles of the building, the ladies waved their handkerchiefs along the galleries, and crowds of men pushed hither and thither, and shouting until they were hoarse, the whole forming a tumultuous and exciting scene. Hundreds of people at the same time were collecting in front of Gov. Ward's residence on Washington Park. When the President returned from the Rink, shortly before 10 o'clock, the number had increased to nearly 15,000, while indoors were found Hon. John Hill, Hon. G. A. Halsey, Mayor Ricord, United States Judge Bradley, Senator Frelinghuysen, Hon. G. A. Halsey, Samuel Grover, Joseph A. Halsey, Father Doane, Rev. Dr. Tiffany, Dr. Coles, Dr. Mercer, Alderman Stenisby and numerous others. At 10½ the torchlight procession of the Republican Clubs of Newark, Montclair, Bergen and Elizabeth moved down Broad-street and round the park, and then passed in review before the President, Gov. Ward and the rest, who looked on with marked interest. In response to repeated calls, the President, stepping to the front of the piazza, said:

I could not feel otherwise than gratified at the reception I have met at the hands of the citizens of Newark and New-Jersey today. I have had the pleasure of visiting the State Fair, near Elizabeth, where I saw little else but people; and I came here to visit the exposition, where I have again seen little else but people, though I hope to-morrow to visit it again, when I shall have more leisure.

Gov. Ward then introduced Senator Frelinghuysen, who delivered a spirited address on local and national topics, and congratulated his audience on the industry, energy and patriotism of the citizens of Newark and New-Jersey.

When the crowd dispersed, about 11½ o'clock, three rousing cheers were given for the President. He will leave Newark for Long Branch at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

OUR MILITARY VISITORS.

Arrival of the Second Connecticut Regiment—Reception by the Seventh of New-York.

Yesterday afternoon the Seventh Regiment assembled at their armory, and at 3 o'clock started for the Grand Central Depot, to receive the Second Connecticut National Guard. Over 600 members of the regiment were on hand, Col. Emmons Clark commanding. Grafulla's Band was in attendance. The train having the visitors on board arrived at the depot at 4¼ o'clock.

The visitors carried their knapsacks, blankets and guns, and, to use the Colonel's words, "were ready for the field in less than fifteen minutes' notice." There were ten companies, numbering between five and six hundred men, commanded by Col. Stephen R. Smith. The field and staff consist of: Colonel, Stephen R. Smith; Lieutenant-Colonel, John H. Bario; Major, George W. Tucker; Adjutant, Joseph S. A. Baker; Surgeon, Walter Judson, M. D.; Chaplain, Rev. Charles H. Siebke; Quartermaster, S. Isadore Bradley; Pay-master, Chas. Kimberly; Assistant Surgeon, Edward H. Riley, M. D.

Among the guests who arrived with the second were Gov. Jewell's Staff, consisting of Adjt.-Gen. S. E. Merwin, Quarter-master-Gen. L. A. Dickinson, Surgeon-Gen. J. F. Whittemore, Assistant Adjt.-Gen. S. J. Fox, Assistant-Quarter-master-Gen. B. F. Blakesbee, Aid-de-Camp, J. W. Knowlton; Gen. Alfred H. Terry, Hon. H. G. Lewis, Mayor of New-Haven; Gen. S. W. Kellogg, M. C.; Hon. N. D. Sperry, Mayor Thomas, of Waterbury, and several others.

The visitors formed in line, at the depot, and marched past the Seventh (who received them with all military courtesies) to Fifth-avenue, where they formed into line, two deep, while the Seventh marched past to the lead. The procession down Fifth-avenue was witnessed by a large number of citizens.

The line of march was continued from Fifth-avenue to Fourteenth-street, thence to Broadway, down Broadway to Bond-street, to the Bowery, and thence to the Seventh's armory, where they "stacked arms" and were dismissed. Col. Smith then thanked Col. Clarke for their handsome reception, and the Colonel replied by stating he had never before had the honor of receiving such a respectable body of men. On being dismissed, the men departed to their several hotels, the head-quarters being the Grand Central.

Before leaving New-Haven, Mayor Lewis, on behalf of the officers and men of the regiment, presented Col. Smith with a handsome gold badge, set in diamonds, made by Tiffany, and cost over $500. The badge has the Connecticut State arms on the face, surmounted by flags and an eagle, and a very handsome Maltese cross is suspended from the badge by a small gold charm, having the figure 2 on its face, beautifully set in diamonds.

The Second Regiment consists of five companies from New-Haven, one from Wallingford, two from Meriden, one from Middletown and one from Branford. Gov. Jewell was not present with the regiment, but will meet them today in Newark.

In the evening the officers and guests accepted an invitation from Col. Spencer, of the Fifth Regiment, to visit the Grand Opera-house, and the men passed the evening in visiting various places of amusement in the City.

At 10 o'clock today the visitors will assemble at the Seventh Regiment armory, and will be escorted to Newark by the Seventy-first Regiment, where they will be received by a brigade of New-Jersey troops, headed by Major-Gen. Runyon and staff. During the day the troops will be reviewed by Gov. Parker, of New-Jersey, and Gov. Jewell, of Connecticut, and probably by President Grant. At 5 o'clock the two regiments will return to this City, and will be met at the ferry by the Twenty-second Regiment and escorted to its armory. To-morrow evening the Twenty-second will give a collation to the visitors, and will escort them at 11 o'clock to the New-Haven boat Elm City, which will leave Peck-slip at midnight.

Something About the Appointment of Election Inspectors.

A spirited public meeting of the Seventeenth Assembly District Republican Association was held last evening in West Fiftieth-street Church, near Eighth-avenue. The meeting was one of a series now being held weekly in the church, and was numerously attended. Mr. D. B. Mellish, the Secretary, called attention to the fact that the Police Commissioners had, contrary to their avowed rule in the matter of the appointment of inspectors of election, assigned one of the inspectors residing in this district to duty in the First District of the First Ward—that was the Chairman of the meeting—and another to an election district of the Fifteenth Assembly District. This, he claimed, was done to give the Democratic inspectors sole charge of such districts, while the Republican inspectors were away voting in their proper districts; for one of those appointed had made inquiry, and was told that his removal from the district he lived in was not unintentional. Hon. William Sewell, in a speech, gave his reasons for being a Republican, and spoke at some length of the peculiar nature of the compact entered into "to beat Grant," and of the absurdity of Horace's nomination by the Democratic Party. When he had concluded the Islewild Quartet appeared upon the platform in the guise of Kuklux, wearing long black robes with white stripes in front, and "K. K. K." upon the backs. Col. A. B. Bartram followed in a brief speech.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Congressional Conventions Approaching—Ex-Attorney-General Hoar in the Field.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 19.—Ex-Attorney-General E. R. Hoar has consented to the use of his name as a candidate for Congress, and his friends are working actively to secure his nomination. To-night he delivered an address to the Republicans of Medford, at a large meeting called for the formation of a Grant and Wilson Club and the raising of a campaign flag. He disclaimed, on opening, any intention of having anything more than a friendly talk with his friends and neighbors. He said that this election, though very important, was not a question of the ruin of the Republican Party. As in the late war, we expected Lexingtons and Bunker Hills, but still were certain that the Saratogas and Yorktowns were to follow. He said: "The two parties, if you can call the other than the Republican Party a party, into which the country is now divided, have presented for the suffrages of the people two candidates. One of them, the Republican candidate, is a man to whom the country owes, as much as to any living man, that the flag which you have unfurled to-night waves in glory over a united country, to whom it owes, as much as to any living man, that the flag representing that country is honored throughout the world. The candidate of the other party, gentlemen, is a man whom all that charity can say is that if his counsels had been followed there would have been no United States of which he could be elected President." Judge Hoar said that the party which he represents having stolen our platform now says there is no difference between us, and want to be put in power. They have put forward as their candidate the most persistent eulogist of Gen. Grant, and one who has steadily denounced them until he saw a chance to be a candidate. Speaking of reconciliation and unity he said there was no man in the country more ready for reconciliation and unity than Gen. Grant, none so little disposed to visit the consequences upon those lately in rebellion, and the speaker referred, in this connection, to the astonishing rapidity with which the army had been disbanded by him. His address contains much that was new and interesting, and many facts narrated by him for the first time could not but give his audience a higher opinion of President Grant than ever before.

To-morrow the first of the Republican Congressional Conventions will be held. It will be held. It will be in the Eighth District. Hon. J. M. S. Williams will most likely receive the nomination. Next week the Convention in Banks' district will be held. The contest is between the friends of Hon. James M. Buffum, of Lynn, and Hon. Daniel Gooch, of Melrose. Although Mr. Buffum has received the nomination of the Labor Reformers, who are stronger in this district than anywhere else in the State, the friends of Gooch say their man will surely be nominated, as more than a majority of the delegates are instructed for him. Banks, it is now thought, will run as the "sorehead" candidate. Messrs. Hooper, Buffinton, Butler, E. R. Hoar and Dawes are said to be sure of renomination. There is a lively contest in Gov. Washburn's district, the opponents of Mr. Crocker, chosen to fill his unexpired term, being determined to secure the nomination of some other man. Mr. Ames will probably not run again, and over his successor there is a contest. B. W. Harris, a prominent Boston lawyer, who has had a homestead in East Bridgewater, in that district, has taken up his residence there and announced his intention of remaining, and the friends of Hon. Edward L. Pierce are pushing him with vigor.

AMUSEMENTS.

Dramatic.

MR. FECHTER IN FRENCH PLAYS.

A small audience was assembled in the Union League Theatre last evening to enjoy a representation of French plays, given with the co-operation of Mr. Fechter. The absent missed a remarkable performance. Mr. Fechter's animation, earnestness and varied methods of expression have been admired repeatedly on the English stage; but only play-goers who have seen him portray the French characters, in whose personation the better portion of his life has been passed, can bear testimony to the perfection of his acting. Beside the picture of Frédéric de Marsan, in "On Demande un Gouverneur," the happiest efforts of English actors would be unimpressive. The story of the piece we mention is that embodied in "A Bachelor of Arts." But no rendering of the English play supplies an idea of the effect wrought, thanks to Mr. Fechter's Frédéric, by the original work. Frédéric is a dissipated gentleman whom the gift of a position of trust reclaims. Mr. Fechter filled the rôle with unflagging vivacity, with unvarying courtliness of bearing, and, whenever the incidents of the piece suggested it, with a pathos which needed no contrast with the habitual lightness of the dialogue, to be profound and touching. The limited number of spectators did not at all lessen the artist's interest in the fulfillment of his task; Mr. Fechter played throughout the two acts with an energy of which his finest performances on the English stage offer but a faint reflection. The artists who appeared with him were MM. Juignet and Robert, and Mmes. Cavé, Blondelet and Taillefer.

Lydia Thompson's Soi-distant Betrothed—More Developments.

Daniel O. Myron, the actor, claimed by his friends to have been improperly arrested, by order of Justice Dowling, on a false charge of insanity, was yesterday before Judge Leonard, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on writs of habeas corpus and certiorari. Commitments were produced on behalf of the people, showing that the prisoner was committed on complaints both of insanity and carrying a slung-shot. Judge Leonard held that he was properly in custody now, even though there had been irregularity in his original arrest, and discharged the writs, remanding the prisoner.

THE STRAIGHT-OUT DEMOCRACY.

Meeting of the State Committee—The State Convention to be Held at Albany on the 3d of October.

The New-York State Committee appointed by the Louisville Convention organized yesterday at Apollo Hall. As the business to be transacted related mainly to preliminary matters, the meeting was held with closed doors. John J. Van Allen occupied the chair, while Judge Goodlett performed the duties of Secretary. Addresses were made by Messrs. Van Allen, Goodlett and Sykes, all taking for their theme the absolute necessity existing for complete organization and determined work during the coming campaign. Judge Spaulding moved that the State Convention be held at Albany on the 3d of October, and that a grand mass-meeting be held at the Cooper Institute on Oct. 8 to ratify the Louisville nominations. The motion was unanimously carried. The following call was then determined on:

The Democrats who repudiate the Baltimore Greeley nomination and indorse the nominees of the Louisville Convention, are respectfully requested to send one delegate from each Assembly district of the State, to meet in Convention at Tweddle Hall, in the City of Albany, on the 3d day of October next, at 12 o'clock M., to put in nomination Electors and State officers, to be supported by them at the coming election.

JOHN J. VAN ALLEN, Chairman.
JOHN A. GOODLETT, Secretary.
Dated NEW-YORK, Sept. 19, 1872.

An address will also be issued by the Committee, the terms of which are under consideration. The amount of business that calls for attention at the hands of the Committee, owing to the delay in organization, is immense. Already they are in possession of a huge pile of correspondence of a most encouraging character from all parts of the country. Over twenty papers have already hoisted the names of O'Conor and Adams. Before the meeting at Apollo Hall adjourned, it was resolved to hold a night session at the house of Mr. Sykes, on Twenty-first-street. The night session was altogether taken up in the discussion of matters of detail. During the evening Mr. C. P. Sykes mentioned that the New-York Day-Book, an old Democratic paper, had deserted the Baltimore nominees and come out squarely for O'Conor and Adams. The Day-Book's reasons for deserting Greeley were given, Mr. Sykes said, in a remarkably-strong editorial. The address of the Committee to the people of the State will be ready in a few days.

Gov. Safford's Hunt for Diamonds.

In a recent letter from Tucson to the San Diego (Cal.) Union, Gov. A. K. P. Safford, of Nevada, writes:

"A year and a half ago I learned to a certainty that diamonds had been found either in Arizona or near the line. The information I received was confidential, and I knew it to be true. I with three others then commenced the work of finding the place. We followed rumors, winks and nods, with about as much earnestness as Japhet looked for his father. Finally, on the Navajoe Reservation, we thought we had found it; but as rubies were much more easily obtained than diamonds, we contented ourselves with gathering rubies. We collected the value of a million or two of each, and concluded we had enough to make ourselves comfortable and our friends also. We took them to San Francisco and sent them to Boston. They proved to be garnets, and of no value; and the beautiful dreams of schools and colleges we would build up, and poor people we would make happy, all vanished, and we found ourselves as before, struggling to make the ends meet."

The Vote for Congressmen in Maine—Republican Gain of 516 Over 1868.

The Greelevites are still insisting upon comparing the recent vote in Maine with that cast in 1868. It has already been shown in the TIMES that their talk about Greeley "gains," "transfers of percentages," &c., on the vote for Governor are delusions and snares, the Republicans having actually held their own, even as compared with the previously unprecedented result in 1868. A comparison with the majorities for Congressmen at the election in 1868, rendered possible by the figures telegraphed yesterday, gives an even more favorable result, showing that the Republicans have actually increased their aggregate majorities 516 votes. The vote for Congressmen is certainly a better criterion of the popular feeling on national questions than is afforded by the vote for Governor. The figures in the two years cited are as follows:

Dist.	1872.	1868.
1. Republican majority	2,195	2,139
2. Republican majority	4,157	4,631
3. Republican majority	3,640	3,246
4. Republican majority	5,159	4,964
5. Republican majority	3,031	2,886
Totals	18,182	17,666
	17,666
Net Republican gains	516

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

ONLY BY

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA-WEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS.

It is now nearly forty years since I was cured of consumption by the above remedies, which have since become celebrated for the cure of consumption in all parts of the civilized world. They have cured more cases of genuine consumption and liver complaints than all other remedies combined. The reason for this is obvious, as SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP possesses the peculiar properties of ripening the morbid matter in the lungs and expelling it in the form of expectoration, healing over the ulcerated parts, closing all the cavities, and making the lungs sound and healthy. This no other remedy can do. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS are of a specific combination, and are a substitute for the use of calomel. They unlock the diseased bile long retained in the system, which has been producing disease and decay in the various organs, and then by expelling this morbid bile and slime from the system, in the shape of copious bilious slimy stools, the liver is restored to a healthy action and natural bile readily secreted. There is nothing weakening in these pills, as the most debilitated and feeble can take them with benefit and increased strength.

SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC is made exclusively of Marine, or Sea Weeds, known only to Dr. SCHENCK, and possesses the rare property of making natural gastric juice, neutralizing all excess of acid, giving tone and strength to the stomach, and thus gets up a first-rate appetite and a good digestion.

I have thus given a very brief outline of the manner that my medicines operate in curing Consumption, Liver Complaint, and all cases of Indigestion.

The limits of this article would not permit of my entering any further into details; suffice it to say that after forty years' experience I have cured more cases of Consumption with these celebrated medicines than any other physician in that time.

Hundreds of bad cases given up to die are now well and hearty by the use of these remedies, and I can refer the reader to thousands of cases in and around New-York, who are living witnesses of the power and virtue of Schenck's medicines. These remedies never depress the vital forces, but acting upon diseased secretions and expelling everything that is wrong from the system, raises up to its natural standard, and health and happiness follow as a result to all who use SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA-WEED TONIC and MANDRAKE PILLS.

These medicines are prepared by J. H. SCHENCK & SON, North-east corner 6th and Arch sts., Philadelphia, and sold by all druggists and dealers. JOHN F. HENRY, wholesale agent, No. 8 College-place, New-York.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

At the Exchange yesterday, Thursday, Sept. 19, although a number of legal auctions were expected to occur, only one was consummated, viz.: Sales by James M. Miller, by order of Supreme Court, under the direction of Geo. L. Ingraham, Esq., referee, of three-story and basement high-stoop brick house and lot, (16.8 by 45 by 100 5,) situate on the south side of East Forty-third-street, 416.8 feet east of Second-avenue, sold for $8,900 to Wm. G. Tooper. The mortgage on the property amounted to $8,350. The remaining proposed transactions of the day were disposed of as follows: Sale by James M. Miller, Wm. M. Howland, Esq., referee, of house and lot No. 199 Church-street, adjourned to the 28th inst. Sale by A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co., Philo T. Ruggles, Esq., referee, of five new brown-stone houses and lots Nos. 403, 405, 407, 411 and 413 West Fifty-seventh-street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, adjourned to the 30th inst. Sale by Hugh N. Camp, Sidney H. Stuart, Esq., referee, of house and lot on Second-avenue, between Forty-second and Forty-third streets, announced as settled and property withdrawn from the market. In regard to the suburban auction at Queens, Long Island, in charge of Jere. The sale will take place today, if pleasant, on the property, at 12½ P. M., and all arrangements heretofore made will hold good. Special train, via James-slip and Thirty-fourth-street ferries, at 10½ o'clock.

For today, at the Exchange, only one sale is announced, namely, by James M. Miller, of house and lot on the east side of First-avenue, between One Hundred and Twentieth and One Hundred and Twenty-first streets. Several sales under the direction of the Sheriff are, however, noticed to occur at the City Hall at 12 M., at which various interests in City real estate will be disposed of.

At private contract the following sales are reported:

The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad Company,

The road is entirely completed and in operation, and extends from Fort Wayne, Indiana, to Richmond, 90 miles in the State of Indiana, and connects the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway, the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad, and the whole system of roads under the control of the Pennsylvania Company in Indiana and Michigan, with the Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad to Cincinnati and Southern Ohio and Indiana. The road is leased for 99 years to the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company, and operated by it for the joint account of the guarantors, and by a contract entered into between the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company, the Pennsylvania Company, lessees of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway, and the Cincinnati, Hamilton, and Dayton Railroad Company, for reciprocal interchange of business; all these Companies agree to throw all their freight and passenger traffic which may be appropriately done over this road, thus insuring it, from the outset, a large volume of business. The holders of these Bonds are thus trebly secured:

First—By a first mortgage on a finished road now in full operation.

Secondly—By a contract for interchange of business with three prosperous and powerful corporations, controlling in its favor a vast amount of business.

Thirdly—By the direct and absolute guarantee, jointly and severally, by INDORSEMENT ON THE BONDS by the above-mentioned three Companies.

Books now open at the office of the undersigned will be positively closed at 3 P. M., Oct. 1, 1872.

The total amount of full-paid stock issued at this time is $414,700, and on this basis the Company shows a present surplus of $136,280 97, and is now doing a flourishing business. Over 1,000 men are almost constantly employed in their extensive works, and they now have on hand $2,500,000 of work for various railroads in the United States, (among which may be mentioned the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, Chicago and North-western, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, Michigan Central, Missouri Pacific, &c., &c.,) and the net profit on this work alone will be over $400,000. The Company is now offered work to the amount of more than $6,000,000, including some of the largest bridges ever built in this country; to accept of which and further business necessitates a larger working capital, as immense amounts of material have to be kept constantly on hand, and the Company are frequently obliged to receive in part payment for their work railroad and other bonds, which are perfectly good securities, but not always immediately marketable.

The THIRTY ACRES of land in Chicago belonging to the Company, and on which their extensive machine and other shops are situated, is now worth nearly $300,000, and prominent real estate dealers say it will be worth, in six years, at least $1,000,000—an amount equal to the whole proposed capital.

The career of the AMERICAN BRIDGE COMPANY, though brief, has already fully demonstrated the profitableness of the enterprise. The Company has constructed since its organization, and up to the 31st of December, 1871, a total of 28,137 feet of bridges, 18 turning-tables and 16 iron roofs, and pneumatic and screw pile substructures, costing $3,400,000, and have facilities for the construction of pneumatic piles unsurpassed by any Company in the country, and a capacity for the construction of at least 150 feet of bridges for every working day in the year.

The iron railroad and highway bridge at Leavenworth, of three spans of 340 feet each, and the Union Pacific Bridge across the Missouri River, of eleven spans of 250 feet each, were constructed by this Company.

The net profit arising from this business, as shown by the books of the Company, up to the 31st of March, 1872, was the sum of $373,482 14, or at the rate of $224,089 28 per annum, being over 50 per cent. upon the capital stock then outstanding. With the proposed new structures, machinery, &c., the Company will have much greater capacity, and the proceeds of the increased issue of stock will enable them to buy material for cash, thereby making a saving of from $50,000 to $75,000 per year.

The Company can undoubtedly, on above basis, make dividends of from 20 to 25 per cent. per annum on the full amount of capital, $1,000,000, with a fair prospect of a considerable increase.

The undersigned are prepared to give to those inquiring the fullest details and entire satisfaction regarding the reliability of the Company's statements, and the unquestioned integrity and ability of its officers.

We confidently commend to capitalists the above as an investment worthy their attention.

THE
AND
CANADA SOUTHERN
First Mortgage Sinking Fund 30 Years

SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

Interest Payable April and October at the Union Trust Company,
AT 90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST.

This road is the Western link in the new AIR LINE from BUFFALO to CHICAGO and runs from the Detroit River to Chicago in nearly a straight line.

The road is a part of the same line as the Canada Southern and is being built by the same men, viz.: Milton Courtright, John F. Tracy, David Dows, Wm. L. Scott, Henry Farnam, R. A. Forsyth, Jno. M. Burke, M. L. Sykes, Jr., all Directors either in the Chicago and North-west or the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; George Opdyke, of the Midland Road; Sidney Dillon, Daniel Drew, John Ross, David Stewart, Samuel J. Tilden, Kenyon Cox, and other prominent railroad men.

The Road, like the Canada Southern, will have steel rails (60 pounds to the yard) throughout; is STRAIGHT AND LEVEL, MUCH SHORTER, and can be run with greater speed and safety than any other road connecting with Buffalo and Chicago.

The builders of the road control enough of its Chicago feeders to obtain for it a profitable business from the start, having projected the line to accommodate existing business, and having seen the necessity for another trunk line between Chicago and the Atlantic sea-board, located expressly with the view of obtaining the cheapest transportation practicable. Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the Road, and it will be finished at the earliest practicable period.

The branch lines will make the shortest connections between Chicago and Toledo, and Chicago and Detroit, as well as between all these points and Buffalo.

The Canada Southern Bonds, in every particular like these, were eagerly taken, the last of them several weeks ago, by the best class of investors, and were on the market a shorter time than any other railroad loan of like amount for years past.

The proceeds of these bonds will complete the entire line, and we recommend them with the same confidence as we did the Canada Southern, and regard them as in every way a choice security.

EXTENSION RAILWAY
First Mortgage 7 Per Cent. Convertible

GOLD BONDS,

AT 90 AND INTEREST,

Issued by the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railway to aid in building its EXTENSION line West, in a direct line from Champaign (185 miles) to the Mississippi River at Keokuk, and a branch from White Heath (39 miles) to Decatur, all in the State of Illinois. The bonds are secured by a first and only mortgage on the EXTENSION, now being rapidly constructed in the most thorough manner by able and experienced contractors who represent a capital of several millions of dollars, which insures the last rail being laid at an early date. About 60 miles are already finished and 110 miles graded; the whole line, 217 miles, will be completed early in 1873. We have been connected and entirely familiar with the I., B. & W. Railway from its early organization. It was completed in the Autumn of 1870, and has developed rapidly into a SUCCESSFUL AND WEALTHY CORPORATION, having a large revenue from its largely increasing business. With the EXTENSION it will be one corporation, with 420 miles of road, located in a commanding position in the heart of the best portion of the country. The counties on the line of the EXTENSION in 1870 had a population of 242,330; valuation of real and personal estate, $181,000,000; bushels of grain raised, 27,000,000; value of farm products, $25,570,000, and live stock, $18,349,000; to which may safely be added 15 per cent. to represent the present population and value. THE COUNTIES ON THE OLD LINE AND THE EXTENSION TOGETHER CONTAIN A POPULATION OF NEARLY THREE-QUARTERS OF A MILLION, AND A PROPERTY VALUATION EXCEEDING $400,000,000.

From these statistics it will be readily seen that the EXTENSION will have a Local Business that will make it a complete success. In addition to this it will have the entire Through Traffic of the Missouri, Iowa, and Nebraska Road, connecting with it on the Mississippi River, and extending West to the Missouri, 300 miles, where it connects with the Midland Pacific in Nebraska. These two corporations, and also the Peoria and Rock Island (91 miles,) and the Davenport and St. Paul (300 miles,) although separate corporations, ARE CONTROLLED IN THE INTEREST OF THE INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY, and, practically, will be a united line of more than 1,200 miles, the through business of which will pass over the I., B. & W. This is an East and West trunk route and has no parallel competing line. The Eastern connections at Indianapolis are the Pennsylvania Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Bellefontaine, Lake Shore, and New-York Central, and other roads centering at this point. From the Sea-board to the West and North-west distances are materially reduced via this system of roads; so much so that it cannot fail to be the popular line for travel and business. Liberal subscriptions to the stock were made by towns and counties on the line of the EXTENSION, and the remainder has been taken by experienced railroad men and Eastern capitalists.

These facts cannot fail to make the bonds, which will be issued only on completed road, take high rank among the best railway securities.

The bonds are $1,000 each, convertible into stock at par, at the option of the holder, and may be registered free of charge.

Coupons, payable January and July 1, free of tax. The bonds may now be had from banks and bankers throughout the country.

We offer them at present at 90 and interest, and recommend them strongly to our friends and investors as one of the safest and most desirable securities on the market.

Bonds delivered free of express charges. Maps, pamphlets and circulars furnished on application.

WALL-STREET'S FEVER.

The Dodges of Brokers to Tighten the Market.

Endeavors to Block the Little Game—The Victims of the Financial Flurry.

The clique which has been operating so extensively in the Street for the past few days, and with marked success, so far as deranging the money market and cornering stocks is concerned, met with a decided repulse in one of their schemes yesterday. For a few days past it has been the custom of H. N. Smith, O. W. Joselyn, and others of the clique, to spend their leisure time in collecting certified checks and presenting them to the several banks where they were due for payment. Instead of sending them through the Clearing-house these worthies have been in the habit of applying for the proceeds of the checks in person. In order to combine business and pleasure a carriage was found necessary to carry away the spoils and transport the clique operators from bank to bank. Immense amounts of currency were withdrawn from the different banking institutions, nearly all of them being favored with a call. The operators succeeded in withdrawing whatever funds their checks called for from every bank, until they happened to visit the Bank of Commerce. Mr. H. N. Smith and Mr. O. W. Joselyn stepped to the counter and presented a certified check for $56,000. Mr. Vail, the cashier, refused to pay it, averring that the object of the withdrawal of legal tenders was well known to him to be to lock them up for the purpose of making the money market stringent, and that the bank would not lend itself to such designs. He said that if the check came in the regular way through the Clearing-house the bank would pay it, otherwise not. Messrs. Smith and Joselyn then went to the office of David Dudley Field, where the check was put into the hands of a notary and sent to the bank. Payment was refused and the following note handed to him:

> "As we are aware that these checks are presented for the purpose of withdrawing from use legal tender notes, we decline paying over our counter or otherwise than through the regular exchanges from the Clearing-house, as customary."

The check was then protested for non-payment, and subsequently Mr. Vail was served with a summons and complaint from the office of David Dudley Field, at the instance of Mr. Smith and other members of the clique. The effect of the refusal to pay cannot yet be foretold, opinions varying among bankers on the Street as to the expediency of the act. All other banking institutions paid certified checks presented by the clique, the Bank of New-York having $350,000 withdrawn from its coffers in this way. It is thought that in spite of the action of the Bank of Commerce the clique obtained money enough to cause a still further stringency in the market, every greenback being carefully stored away in the private safes of the members of the conspiracy. The million of gold which Secretary Boutwell sold yesterday seemed to have only a momentary influence upon the market, its price advancing to a point even higher than that previously attained. The mercantile community was seriously distressed by the stringency of the money market yesterday, and business at the Produce, Cotton and Oil Exchanges was greatly stagnated in consequence. Brokers and bankers in general did not feel the pressure so greatly, although some of the weaker firms gave way. Monroe & Appsley succumbed to the pressure, and the failure was noted in the Stock Exchange.

Philip Dater & Co., wholesale grocers, No. 112 Wall-street, an old and highly respectable firm, were announced as on the list of mercantile suspensions. The house has been in existence for over thirty years, and has descended from father to son. The house was formerly Lee, Dater & Miller. The liabilities are not yet stated, but are variously estimated at from $500,000 to $600,000.

There are rumors of other failures, but as they are not officially announced, it is deemed best to abstain from publishing them.

The general state of the market, in spite of the continuance of the gold corner and the stringency of the currency, was somewhat better, and many stocks advanced slightly. The proceedings of the clique today are awaited with great interest by those who are obliged to borrow or operate in the Street. It is expected that the arrival of a large quantity of stock from Europe this week will break the Erie corner. The stock was telegraphed for by those who were short of it as soon as the plans of the lock-up party began to develop, and favorable replies from Europe were then received.

THE TURF.

Third Day of the Fall Meeting of the Prospect Park Association—Magnificent Trotting—Gloster Wins the 2:38 Purse, and Camors the 2:23 Purse.

As the meeting of the Prospect Park Association proceeds, the interest in the races increases proportionately. Yesterday was one of the "big" days of the meeting, and consequently there was a very large concourse of spectators.

The sport of the day began with the purse of $850, for horses that have never beaten 2:38, which filled with a dozen excellent entries, five of whom were drawn, the following seven answering the call of the judges, viz.: Tip Allen, Rosa Anderson, Gloster, Wallace, Columbia Chief, Walter and Susie Parker.

The contest was a stirring one, and was not decided until after five heats were trotted, Susie Parker winning the first two, and Gloster the other three. Susie Parker was a favorite at ten to one after she won the two first heats. The story will be told by the subjoined:

SUMMARY.

PROSPECT PARK FAIR GROUND ASSOCIATION, Thursday, Sept. 19.—Purse, $850, for horses that have never beaten 2:38; $450 to first, $250 to second, and $150 to third horse; mile heats; best three in five, in harness.

SECOND RACE.

The great event of the day was the purse of $2,000, for horses that had never beaten 2:23, which had the following six: Lulu, Camors, Sleepy John, Triumph, Judge Fullerton, and W. H. Allen. Although Judge Fullerton was the favorite, the race was considered a very open one, for all the entries were possessed of immense speed, and a grand struggle for the mastery was anticipated, in which expectation the public was not disappointed. The favorite, Fullerton, did not even get the second money, and the trotting of Camors was the theme of admiration. There was much excitement during the progress of the race. The particulars are given below:

FIRST HEAT.—In drawing for choice of positions Lulu drew the pole, W. H. Allen second, Camors third, Judge Fullerton fourth, Triumph fifth; Sleepy John was drawn. After wearying the patience of the spectators with a dozen scores, they received the word, and Lulu took the lead, with Camors second, Allen third, Triumph fourth, Fullerton fifth. As they went to the turn Fullerton became unsteady and fell some way in the rear. Lulu in the meantime kept a steady pace, and was two lengths in front at the quarter-pole in 34¾ seconds, Camors second, Allen third, Triumph fourth and Fullerton fifth. As they went along the backstretch they were all strung out in this way, and at the half-mile pole, in 1:09, Lulu was first, two and a half lengths in front of Camors, who was ten lengths away from Allen, who was four lengths in front of Triumph, Fullerton fifth. As they came round the lower turn Camors forced Lulu off her feet and went to the front, Fullerton in the meantime passing Triumph and taking the fourth place. At the three-quarter pole Camors was three lengths ahead of Lulu, who was ten ahead of Allen, who was three in front of Fullerton. On the homestretch Camors had such a lead that it was impossible for the others to catch him, and he won the heat easily by five lengths; Lulu second, three lengths ahead of Allen, who was four lengths away from Fullerton, with Triumph in the rear. Time—2:23.

SECOND HEAT.—The sixth attempt was a send off, with Lulu first—half a length—Camors second, Allen third, Fullerton fourth, and Triumph fifth. As they went to the turn, Allen broke and fell to the rear, Camors in the meantime going to the front, Fullerton going to the second place. At the quarter-pole, in 35½ seconds, Camors was first, a length ahead of Fullerton, second, eight lengths ahead of Triumph, who was ten lengths away from Lulu, with Allen in the rear. As they went along the backstretch, Camors and Fullerton were the only ones in the race, the latter crawling up and lapping the wheel of Camors, and they were in this position at the half-mile pole, in 1:09. On the lower turn, Camors shook off Fullerton, and passed the three-quarter pole a length ahead, which lead he maintained to the score in the very fast time of 2:21¾, Triumph, Allen and Lulu, third, fourth and fifth, just saving their distance.

THIRD HEAT.—The third attempt was a send off, and Triumph had the lead, Allen second, Camors third, Lulu and Fullerton last. As they went to the turn Triumph broke up and lost his lead, and all but Fullerton passed him. Camors now assumed the lead and reached the quarter pole in 35 seconds, two lengths ahead of Lulu, Allen third, Triumph fourth and Fullerton fifth, all two lengths apart. On the backstretch Triumph again left his feet and was then out of the race. Camors got three lengths away on the backstretch, Allen being second, closely pushed by Fullerton. At the half-mile pole Fullerton had got to the second place and was a length and a half behind Camors, who passed that point in 1:12, Allen third, Triumph fourth and Lulu fifth. In this way they passed the three-quarter pole, but on turning into the homestretch Allen came with a rush on the inside and passed Fullerton on the homestretch. He then headed Camors, and then amid the most intense enthusiasm gave him the go by and won the heat by half a length in 2:24, Fullerton third, three lengths behind, Lulu fourth and Triumph distanced.

FOURTH HEAT.—They were away on the first attempt, with Lulu first, Camors second, Allen third and Fullerton fourth, who broke immediately after the word was given, and fell to the rear. At the turn Allen went to the front, but broke, and Camors assumed the lead, passing the quarter-pole in 35½ seconds, two lengths ahead of Lulu, who was the same distance in front of Allen. Down the backstretch Camors opened the gap to four lengths, by which distance he passed the half and three-quarter poles, Allen second, ten lengths ahead of Lulu, with Fullerton fourth. Allen endeavored to catch Camors on the stretch, but broke, and Camors won by three lengths in 2:23¾, Allen six lengths ahead of Fullerton, who was half a length ahead of Lulu.

THE BIENVILLE DISASTER.

Finding of the Life-Boat Near Abaco.

HAVANA, Sept. 13.—The letter from Capt. Wilson, of the brig Hunter, who picked up the life-boat near Abaco, says that the Captain learned from the wreckers on the Bahama Banks of the loss of the Bienville, and on the 29th of August he discovered a life-boat about thirty feet long floating bottom up with the after part broken off. As the boat was useless, Capt. Wilson only saved the patent hooks and air-tight tins of some of the seats. The hooks were numbered 810, but had no maker's name on them. The boat was painted white with the gunwale-board black. On one of the seats was written with a pencil, seemingly in a hurry and as though the writer tried to write more but was unable, "A turtle all ——."

To supply a demand for ladies' head-dresses, Lord & Taylor, at Twentieth-street and Broadway, yesterday had an informal opening of Fall bonnets and round hats, some of which at once captivated the fancy of their fair customers to such an extent that they had to be duplicated at very short notice. Among the number was a bonnet of black silk and velvet, with a cap crown, brim turned up all round and a rose falling gracefully over the side, partly confining the brim and partly mingling with the curls of the wearer; long streamers of black watered ribbon fell amid rich light folds of lace and net from the back of this elegant bonnet, and looked superb. A round hat of black velvet, corded with two shades of peacock blue in heavy gros grain silk and finished with very full bows and ends of heavy ribbon of the same shade, fastened in a careless knot over plain real net, and garnitured at the side. A spray of beaded jets was also much admired. A bonnet of olive brown silk and velvet, with a coronet front and a wreath of leaves and berries, matching the silk, was pronounced one of the most "exquisite things" there, while another, of pale blue velvet and gros grain ribbon of the same shade, with airy ostrich tips curling away off from the front and nodding provokingly over the jaunty little apology for a cape, was extremely coquettish.

In the cases on the stands, and richly decorating the tables, were a profusion of feathers, flowers, wreaths of Autumn leaves and berries, vieing with nature in their ruddy and sombre tints, while hats of modest dimensions, and others with towering crowns, lay side by side with less pretentious frames, whereon to build a superstructure of velvet, ribbon, lace and ornaments, which, when completed, can be worn either as a round hat or a bonnet.

Few new colors are shown, but there are exquisite shades of sage green, olive brown, pale blue and delicate green rivaling in its creamy depths the soft sea foam from which it takes its name. With some of the imported shapes the tendency is to select both bonnets and hats of medium height, allowing the trimmings to make any addition the wearer thinks becoming.

Altogether, the display of millinery at Lord & Taylor's, yesterday, was one of the most chaste, tasteful and elegant that the lovers of fashion could desire.

The Mahopac Abduction Case.

Detectives Tilley and Heidelberg, of the Central Office, brought to Police Head-quarters, yesterday, Mr. Montague R. Leverson, a lawyer, who is charged with having been concerned in the recent abduction of Gen. Viele's child. He was arrested about a week ago by Chief of Police Donovan, of Hoboken, as he was about to sail for Europe on the steamer Frisia. He has since been detained by the authorities of New-Jersey until a requisition was obtained from Gov. Hoffman, of this State, on Gov. Randolph, of New-Jersey, for his rendition. Leverson was brought to this City and detained for a few hours at Head-quarters, and then taken to Lake Mahopac for examination. Andrew Jackson, the colored driver of the coach in which the child was abducted, is also under arrest at Lake Mahopac, awaiting trial. The other parties engaged in the abduction have thus far escaped arrest.

Only one death occurred from small-pox.

THE BIGLIN-WARD RACE.

An Exciting Contest on the Hudson—Ellis Ward Beaten by Three Lengths.

The contest between John Biglin and Ellis Ward, for $1,000, came off, yesterday, at Nyack, in the presence of a large concourse of people. Excursion boats, tugs, &c., were abundant, and arrived at Nyack from neighboring places at about 2 o'clock. Betting was lively at long odds on Ward, beginning with 100 to 80 and running down to 100 to 55. The question as to who should be referee was settled after a few familiar names had been proposed. Mr. George Springstein was agreed upon, and ordered the stake-boats to be placed, and the wind and water moderating, the men were ordered from their quarters. At 4¼ Ward was seen on the steamer Eliza Hancock, which had brought him and his party from Sing Sing, where he had been training. Ellis looked fine, bright and cheerful, and acted perfectly cool. He weighed 148 pounds. His boat had been polished and cared for by his brothers Charles and Gilbert, and James Ten Eyck. He rowed his English shell, built by Jewett of Dunston, on Tyne, 31 feet length 11½ inches wide, weighing 36½ pounds, fitted with sliding seat. He was dressed in blue knee-breeches, white merino shirt, and wore red colors on his head.

John Biglin soon after appeared on the shore, attended by his brothers, Barney and Philip, and others. John looked, and said he felt, better than ever in his life. He weighed 163 pounds and was clad the same as Ellis, excepting the colors on his head, which were blue. His boat was built by Charles Elliott, of Greenpoint, is 30 feet 6 inches in length and 11 inches wide, and weighs thirty-five pounds. When the men got afloat their respective partisans gave them round after round of encouraging cheers. At 4¾ o'clock they came together at the starting point off the lower landing at Nyack, the water now being moderately smooth, the tide a light ebb, and the wind shifting in puffs from north-west to north-east. They watched each other keenly when ordered to back down, and Biglin slipped a length ahead upon every motion of his opponent. But the referee distinctly informed them that no start would be made until both men should be squarely aligned. At 4:51 he caught them abreast and gave the simple word "Go" without any warning. Biglin got away with a beautiful dash, by which he gained a lead of half a length. Ellis settled down to regular work on the start, and within a half mile closed the slight difference between them. When opposite the Institute, at the southern extremity of Nyack, they were again abreast of each other, and maintained this position until the two stake-boats were reached, which they turned in 16:55, (two and a half miles.) Biglin, making a shorter turn, led Ward by half a length. On the way back, they almost looked as if the were in the same boat, looking at them from a short distance across the water, but on the beginning of the fourth mile Biglin gradually drew ahead until he had opened a gap of three lengths, which he kept open to the end, winning a fair and finely contested race in thirty-nine minutes and five seconds. The friends of Biglin were quiet and modest in expressing their opinions previous to the race, but also confident, and took the odds offered by the wealthy and enthusiastic admirers of Ward freely. The judges were: For Biglin, Chas. B. Elliott and John Blue; for Ward, Josh Ward and James Ten Eyck; referee, George Springstein; time-keeper, Benj. F. Brady.

The Broadway Shooting Affray—Death of "Indian Ned" at Bellevue Hospital.

Edward Wellington, alias "Indian Ned," the friend and associate of Wm. Varley, alias "Reddy the Blacksmith," who was shot at 2 o'clock last Saturday morning, by Daniel C. Perkins, proprietor of the "New Idea" concert-saloon, in the basement of No. 598 Broadway, died last evening at Bellevue Hospital. The particulars of the affair have already been published in the TIMES, and it will be remembered that at the time referred to above Wellington, in company with "Reddy" and another man of the same stripe, attempted to force their way into the concert saloon of Perkins against the wishes and remonstrances of the proprietor, the place having been closed for the night. In the saloon at the time were Perkins, his wife, and a lad employed about the place. Wellington kicked the door from its hinges and rushed into the place, when Perkins, knowing the character of the men and fearing personal violence, drew a revolver and fired. The shot took effect in Wellington's left eye, and the bullet passed in beyond the reach of the probe. Death resulted from an injury to the brain. Perkins was arrested at the time, but was subsequently discharged by Justice Hogan, who, after a due examination of the case, came to the conclusion that the shooting was justifiable. He will, no doubt, be rearrested and held to await the result of the inquest, which will be held by Coroner Young.

THE MONEY MARKET.

THURSDAY, Sept. 19—P. M.

The dealings in Money, Gold, Stocks and Foreign Exchange were of less general interest today. Yet the movements were of sufficient importance to attract the attention of the business public even outside of the Street, particularly in relation to the course of Gold and Money, on which the satisfactory progress of the Fall trade so largely depends. Money worked less adversely to the borrowing classes. The clique efforts to withdraw Greenbacks from the bank, and from street use, with a view to the depression of Stock values, did not meet with anything like encouraging success. Some of the strongest of the City banking institutions were said to have taken decided ground against the contraction schemes of the desperate speculators at the Gold and Stock Boards. One or two of these institutions were represented as having declined to respond to certified checks, calling for legal-tender notes, unless received through the Clearing-house. The Bank of Commerce adopted this course in reference to certain certified checks of the date of the 17th inst., which were presented only today by Messrs. H. N. Smith and O. W. Joslyn in person. Mr. Vail, Cashier of the Bank, had the checks subsequently presented to him for payment, by a notary, to whom he handed a written answer, of which the following is a copy: "As we are aware that these checks are presented for the purpose of withdrawing from use legal-tender notes, we decline paying over our counter or otherwise than through the regular exchanges from the Clearing-house, as customary." Late in the day it was reported that Mr. Vail had been served with a summons and complaint, from the office of Mr. Dudley Field, designed to enforce the pretensions of the holders of the checks as against the Bank. The rates on Money on call were more uniform, and varied little to the Stock firms from the legal rate in Currency or Gold, though some negotiations were reported based on commissions of 1-16@⅛ of 1 ₱ cent., added to the regular interest, for the day's use of funds. The moderate wants of the Government house were supplied at even less than the legal rate in currency. The City Bank currency exchanges reached $175,004,132. The discount market was utterly lifeless, within a nominal range of 7@12 ₱ cent. per annum, far the best to very good grades of commercial paper. Some mercantile troubles were spoken of, and one old and eminently respectable grocery-house, that of Messrs. Philip Dater & Co., No. 112 Wall-street, was announced as having been forced to suspend on liabilities variously estimated up to $600,000. The fluctuations in Stock values led to the stoppage of two or three brokerage firms, but none of any great prominence. The Gold movement was of most interest through the afternoon, when the highest figures of the day were registered at the Exchange, on operations, however, of less magnitude and significance than those of yesterday. The price through the forenoon ranged from 113⅞@113¾@114⅛. At noon the proposals for the Government Gold to be awarded today were opened at the Sub-Treasury and found to have reached the large aggregate of $10,610,000. The Treasury award, however, was confined to the million which had been advertised and which was all placed at 114 save one lot of $50,000, which went at 114.01. After the award was announced, the price in the Street dealings was advanced to 115@115⅛, on a livelier business. Gold loans were quoted thus: For borrowing, 1-16@1-32@3-64@1-64, "flat," 1-32@1-64, and flat. For carrying, 2@3@4 ₱ cent. ₱ annum. The Gold Exchange Bank Clearances were nearly $122,000,00, and the resulting balances $1,468,789 in coin, and $2,027,939 in currency. The Foreign Exchanges were firmer, but variable, and at the close showed weakness again, with sixty-day Sterling Bills quoted at 107⅞@108, and best light drafts at 109 @109⅛. The Sub-Treasurer disbursed $100,000 of coin interest, and $32,000 in redemption of the called Five-twenties. The Public Funds closed up with more firmness, and a stronger purchasing disposition was manifested, with special favor shown to the later issues of the Five-twenties. The transactions in the Stock line were on a less extensive scale, yet prices fluctuated considerably, and at the close, the market was somewhat feverish and excited, though not unnaturally so. Erie shares ranged from 52⅜ regular and 53⅝ cash, up to 54@55, and back to 52⅜@52⅛, with the borrowing figures on this stock quoted from 1½ ₱ cent. in the forenoon to ⅛@⅜ ₱ cent. toward the close. Union Pacific Shares were quite active, with free sales reported on speculative account, enlarging the outstanding short interest in this stock. Of the miscellaneous list, Pacific Mail was the feature, attracting much of the attention of the street operators. Western Union stock was of less prominence in the dealings. Express stocks were not in much favor.

At the close of the Stock Board, the following quotations were made as compared with last night. The final prices were rather better than those of yesterday. Money closed up unexpectedly easy, helping the general market:

Report of Judges upon GILT and BRONZE CHANDELIERS, GLASS CHANDELIERS, and BRONZES, exhibited by MITCHELL, VANCE & CO.:

"We fully agree that the bronze fixtures are superior in artistic design, workmanship and finish to any made in this country, and probably in the world. The bronzes, especially the large pieces which are copied from the French, are the best productions of the country. The glass chandeliers are equal if not superior to the celebrated Osler manufacture, (English,) which have been heretofore acknowledged the best in the world. The glass is of unusual whiteness. They rank A1.
